4-TIME CLEVELAND LEADER

Mayor Burke Named To Senate by Lausche

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Democrat Thomas A. Burke, 54-year-old four-time mayor of Cleveland, today holds the Senate post vacant since the death of Robert A. Taft July 31.

Gov. Frank J. Lausche of Ohio appointed Burke late yesterday. It was a surprise announcement by the Democratic governor, who called his private secretary from Cleveland and told her to release the news.

Control up to Nixon

Lausche's selection of his close friend and long-time political ally gave the Democratic party a 48-47 edge in the Senate. The other senator is independent Wayne Morse of Oregon. Vice President Nixon holds the deciding vote should the Senate deadlock. Morse was elected as a Republican but later bolted the party in a hassle over policy.

The word that the sometimes politically independent governor had named Burke to the Senate ended seculation in some quarters and set other circles buzzing.

The political prognosticators wonder now whether Lausche or Burke—or neither—will seek election in November 1954 for the remainder of the term, which runs until Jan. 3, 1959.

Could Step Aside

Persons guessing Lausche would appoint the round-faced Irishman who declined to seek nomination for a fifth term as Cleveland mayor reasoned it was the only logical appointment—that such an appointment would give Lausche and Burke the upper hand in upcoming Ohio gubernatorial and U. S. senatorial elections.

They figured Burke would step aside in 1954 if Lausche decided to seek the Senate seat—and that Burke might then try for governor.

THOMAS A. BURKE
Succeeds 'Mr. Republican'

Lausche could not be reached for comment last night. He has refused to speak to Burke prior to the appointment.

"He had no commitments to me of any character whatsoever," Lausche said, "except that I anticipate he will take no action to change in any manner the present organization of the Senate, and that, in the fulfillment of his duties he will constantly keep in mind the interests and welfare of the general public."

Some observers interpreted Lausche's emphasis on "no commitments" as meaning Lausche reserved the right to run for the Senate.

The appointment of the jovial, good-humored Burke brought criticism from one Ohio congressman. Rep. George H. Bender, a Clevelander, called it "part of a shabby deal."

Attacks Burke

Bender said Burke "will not represent the majority of Ohio; he will substantially misrepresent us."

Bender said Lausche's action was "in keeping with his sorry record on national issues."

Sen. John W. Bricker, Ohio Republican, said he would have nothing to say on the appointment.

Burke accepted the appointment humbly. He borrowed a phrase from his favorite sport when he said:

"I feel somewhat in the position of a fighter who has been matched with a champion."

Relatives Here Thrilled

Marion relatives of Mayor Thomas A. Burke of Cleveland were thrilled to hear of his appointment by Governor Lausche as U. S. Senator.

William F. Lyon of this city is a brother-in-law to Mayor Burke. Mrs. Burke, the former Josephine Lyon, is his sister.

Mr. and Mrs. Lyon, who have lived in Marion the past six years, reside at 618 Mt. Vernon Ave.

Mr. Lyon is an auditor with the state welfare department in this area.

Lack of Fire Protection in City Charged

A complaint there is a lack of fire protection for residents living in the northern half of the city caused some heated discussion between Marion councilmen and city administration officials at last night's council meeting.

Councilman Harold Smith, First Ward, made the complaint. He said that under the present organization in the fire department there are no firemen on hand to man a city fire truck housed at the Mark St. Station when the township truck stationed there is called outside the city. He said this is because all firemen at the station are used to man the Marion Township fire truck and none are left to man the city truck.

Cites Fire Hazard

This presents a fire hazard for residents living north of the Erie and New York Central Railroad tracks, he said. Providing a fire breaks out in the north end at the same time the township truck is on a run outside the city and a train is blocking the crossings, there is no fire protection for north end residents, he said.

Safety-Service Director Ralph Forrest and Mayor Harold Robinson replied that either the Central Station or W. Center St. station could answer a call in the north end and could by-pass trains blocking the crossings by using the Leader St. underpass.

Smith answered that firemen from these stations would likely first go to Main St. and then, if blocked by a train, turn back to use the Leader St. underpass. The time lost in this manner could make considerable difference in a fire, he said.

Rinehart Backs Smith

Councilman Herman Rinehart, Third Ward, agreed with Smith's statements and added that unless both fire trucks at the Mark St. station could be manned at all times one becomes a useless piece of equipment.

Council President William Slack suggested that possibly men could be sent to the Mark St. Station from the Central Station on occasions when the township truck is called outside the city limits.

Forrest said that this would cripple the Central Station and would decrease fire protection for the more congested downtown area.

Smith said that this was a problem of fire department organization and that he felt full - time fire protection should be provided for north end residents from the Mark St. Station.

Suggest More Firemen

Mayor Robinson and Forrest both said that the only adequate solution would be to increase the number of firemen. Smith then asked why Fire Chief Owen A. Sifritt had not appeared before Council to request more men. Forrest said that more firemen were requested in Sifritt's annual report presented to Council the first of the year. He said Chief Sifritt recommended at least six additional firemen be hired to properly man the department with addition of the township fire truck to other city equipment.

Discussion of the matter closed with suggestion that it be referred to the Municipal Services Committee for further study and a report at the next Council meeting.

Ordinance Approved

In other top action at last night's meeting, Council approved an ordinance authorizing the safety-service director to advertise for bids for the storage of impounded motor vehicles.

This ordinance was ordered by Council at its last meeting in an attempt to provide for enforcement of an impounding ordinance included in the recently-adopted city code.

The impounding ordinance provided that illegally parked cars or cars involved in traffic accidents could be impounded by the police department.

However, it was reported by Haldeman that police were reluctant to enforce this ordinance because they had no place to store impounded cars.

The ordinance passed last night was described as a "feeler" to determine if any local garage owners will bid for the storage of impounded cars. Some councilmen said they feel no bids will be received because of the risk involved by the garage owner in providing safe storage for the impounded cars. It provides only for advertisement and acceptance of bids by the safety-service director and makes no provision for the signing of contracts. Councilmen indicated they will decide whether contracts should be signed after bids are received.

New Violence Breaks Out As Angry Yugoslavs Wait On West To Answer Tito

MOB STORMS BUILDING, BEATS U. S. OFFICIAL. A strong police force stands guard outside of the United States information service library in Belgrade after demonstrators stormed the building and assaulted William B. King (inset), a bureau official. King suffered a broken nose in the attack. The angry mob was protesting the ceding of Trieste's Zone A to Italy. The United States State Department demanded that Yugoslavia protect U. S. officials from further attacks.

American Student Is Beaten in Belgrade as Demonstrators Riot

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia, (AP) — Anti-Western violence increased today as angry Yugoslavia awaited Western reaction to President Tito's threats and notes designed to halt the transfer of northern Trieste to Italy.

With Washington showing no signs of backing down from the British-American decision to pull out of Zone A of the strategic Yugoslav "again grew" ugly.

U. S. Student Beaten

Demonstrators beat up an American student and a Yugoslav who dropped into the Belgrade office of the U. S. Information Service. Huge slogans spelling "Entrance of Traitors" were scrawled on sidewalks outside the USIS office and the British reading room in the main part of the city.

A reinforced ring of Yugoslav militia men surrounded both buildings as mass street demonstrations continued. New protests also were planned for tonight.

A British spokesman said 1,000 to 1,500 "thugs" twice invaded the reading room and seized copies of the British News Bulletin, tearing them up and using them to make bonfires in the streets.

The renewal of violence followed a night of comparative calm although the American embassy reported that a Yugoslav woman employe had been beaten on her way home last night.

Withdraw Natives

As a result, the embassy withdrew the large staff of natives employed by the USIS from duties involving direct contact with the public.

Demonstrators yesterday slugged the USIS director in Belgrade and broke his nose.

The Russians put their oar in the troubled Trieste waters last night, on the heels of Tito's bid for direct talks with the Western powers and his warning to the United Nations that the Anglo-American plans are a threat to peace.

First Load Leaves

In identical notes to Britain and the United States, the Kremlin declared the plan to give Italy the Allied-occupied zone—including the Adriatic port city of Trieste—was a "grave violation" of the Italian peace treaty.

Underlining the apparent U. S-British determination to pull out, the first boatload of American servicemen's dependents left Tri-

Kidnap Couple Returned for Federal Trial

Government Charges Confessed Pair; Both Face Death Sentences

KANSAS CITY (AP)—The confessed kidnaper-killers of Bobby Greenlease today were returned under heavy guard to Kansas City, where the abduction of the 6-year-old boy took place just 15 days ago.

Drug addict Carl Austin Hall and his woman friend, Mrs. Bonnie Brown Heady, were brought here from St. Louis. They had been held in St. Louis since their arrest a week ago.

Departure Secret

The pair's departure from St. Louis was kept secret. They were brought here by automobile in custody of U. S. Marshal Omar Schnatmeier. Both were manacled.

Officers placed them in 11th floor detention cells in the county courthouse jail.

Officers who made the trip here with them said Hall still insisted he doesn't know what happened to the missing $300,000 of the $600,000 ransom paid.

They quoted him as saying he hoped the Greenlease family "gets back all the money."

Hall admitted yesterday he fired a pistol bullet into the boy's head after driving him across the Missouri-Kansas state line from Kansas City shortly after the kidnaping.

The government filed charges here under the Lindbergh kidnaping law immediately after the couple signed confessions. A federal grand jury will be convened to hear the evidence.

The admissions cleared the missing Thomas John Marsh, 37, ex-convict named earlier by Hall as Bobby's killer.

Jackson County Prosecutor Richard Phelps agreed to let the federal government prosecute the two kidnapers. State charges had previously been filed.

Conviction carries a possible death penalty.

Rest Is Missing

The FBI said Hall and his woman friend admitted they dug Bobby's shallow grave behind Mrs. Heady's St. Joseph, Mo., home before the kidnaping.

Appointment Has Strings

GOP Control in Senate Not Likely To Be Upset

WASHINGTON (AP) — Republicans seem certain to retain control of the Senate despite the appointment of Democratic Mayor Thomas A. Burke of Cleveland to succeed the late Republican Sen. Robert A. Taft.

In announcing yesterday the Taft post, Democratic Gov. Frank Lausche said in a statement at Columbus he anticipates the appointee "will take no action upsetting the present organization of the Senate."

Would Retain Control

This would mean Republicans would retain control of committee chairmanships and other legislative machinery.

When Burke takes the oath, there will be in the Senate 48 Democrats, 47 Republicans and 1 independent, Sen. Morse of Oregon. But Democrats have given no sign they will attempt to seize control.

Although Morse bolted the GOP in last year's campaign, he has said he would not vote with the Democrats in the organization of the Senate in January.

Problem for GOP

With Morse siding with the Republicans, the lineup would be 48-48. In case of a tie, Vice President Nixon could vote and tip the balance to the Republicans.

However, Lausche's appointment of Burke will create a problem for the Republicans in passing out Senate committee assignments.

Committees are normally divided in the same ratio as the Senate itself, and thus far no formula has been found by which the GOP would be assured of continued committee majorities.

The Burke appointment came amid these other political developments.

1. Sen. H. Alexander Smith (R-NJ) announced he had recommended that Gov. Alfred E. Driscoll, New Jersey Republican, be named ambassador to New Zea-

Foreign Ministers Of Big 3 To Meet

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of State Dulles will meet with the British and French foreign ministers in London Friday for conferences on Trieste, Korea, Russian relations and other world problems.

A joint announcement of arrangements for the conference was made today in Washington, London and Paris.

Dulles will leave here tomorrow night. Two advisors, Douglas MacArthur II, State Department counselor, and Robert Bowie, chief of department policy planning, will accompany him.

Dulles expects to remain in London until Sunday.

State Department officials said this was not an emergency session, and that there was no one overriding problem which made it necessary now.

To Visit in Ohio

Birthday To Mark Start Of Journey by President

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower gets birthday greetings from Pennsylvania Republicans tonight to cheer him on a week's fence-building trip westward.

The President, who won't actually be 63 until tomorrow, planned to leave Washington with Mrs. Eisenhower and staff members early in the afternoon for a 128-mile drive to Hershey, Pa., for a $100-a-plate birthday dinner in a circus tent there tonight.

Shakes Off Flu

The President evidently had shaken off an attack of flu which kept him in the White House Sunday.

After a White House birthday dinner tomorrow night, Eisenhower leaves by train on a trip that will carry him into Ohio, Missouri, Kansas, Louisiana and Texas. He returns to Washington next Tuesday.

The seven days of theat trip will be devoted largely to the pressing political problem of drought, low farm prices, public power and patronage. On the first three, the Democrats have made vigorous attacks on his administration's policies. Some Republicans are grumbling about patronage.

Tonight's two-ring appearance and his week's mingling with the people in the central states will be watched keenly by politicians to determine if the Eisenhower popularity is such as to lessen outspoken discontent with some of his administration's actions.

High Point of Rally

Eisenhower's visit to Hershey is part of a hoopla fund-raising rally, with 800 birthday cakes, including a mammoth one of wood with a cake insert for the President to carve. Some 6,500 of the party

Neutrals Ask Start of POW Interviewing

Commission Calls on Allies, Reds To Begin Questioning Thursday

PANMUNJOM (AP)—The Korean repatriation commission today asked the U. N. Command and the Communists to start Thursday in their attempts to persuade war prisoners to return home.

The commission request came shortly after the UNC announced it would complete by midnight tonight a permanent center for the Reds to use in interviewing 22,300 North Korean and Chinese POWs.

There was no immediate answer either from the Reds or the Allied command.

The Allied announcement opened the way for the long delayed—and potentially explosive—explanations to start rolling.

The Reds had steadfastly refused to meet with the POWs until the UNC completed new facilities. The explanations originally were scheduled to begin Sept. 26 but both sides rejected existing sites as inadequate.

The Communists, who want to

Classes Begin Thursday for Baker Students

Trouble with the heating system at Baker Junior High School, which has been giving workmen a big headache and the pupils a holiday, is well on the way to solution today and regular classes are to be resumed Thursday morning, Superintendent Lester L. Dickey announced today.

Through a mixup at the factory the wrong controls for the heating unit was forwarded for installation, it was discovered by a representative of the firm who flew here yesterday to lend a hand. The proper controls are being flown in today and installation will be completed in time for the opening of classes Thursday, workmen told Superintendent Dickey.

Due to the variable weather, classes have been held "off and on" since the trouble began but this morning the weatherman was on the side of the pupils and the fortyish temperature made the schoolrooms a bit too chilly. Dismissable of classes seemed advisable rather than risk colds or perhaps more serious illness for pupils and teachers.

Pupils were first sent home Wednesday when temperatures dropped to 33. They returned to classes Monday and were sent home again today.

16 Nations Back U.S.

Allies Stand Fast on No Neutrals at Peace Table

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States and its 16 Korean War partners stood firm today in a decision to bar neutral nations from the proposed Korean peace conference.

A formal message on behalf of the United Nations side, sent to Communist China and North Korea, offered to send an American representative to Panmunjom Oct. 26 to discuss the peace parley with Red officials.

Only Time and Place

The note stressed, however, that the U. N. representative would be prepared to discuss only "a time and place" for the peace conference along with "procedural, administrative, and related questions as to arrangements."

The new Communist demand that the membership of the projected peace parley also be thrashed out anew at Panmunjom was rejected by the U. N. Allies.

The American representative, special State Department consultant Arthur Dean, was instructed to discuss this Communist demand "to the extent consistent" with a U. N. General Assembly resolution which limits participation to the nations which contributed to fighting forces.

Set Record Straight

In new notes over the weekend, Red China and North Korea had insisted anew that India, Indonesia, Burma, Pakistan nd Russia be permitted to attend the peace talks as "neutrals." The U. N. took the position Russia could attend only if invited by Red China and North Korea.

The Communists were reminded in the newest United Nations message that Red China insisted during the Korean armistice talks that "participation be limited to the governments concerned on both sides."

"It is not correct, therefore," the message continued, "to say that your side held all along that neutral nations should participate in the conference."

A dispatch from London, meanwhile, quoted diplomatic officials as saying Britain is prodding the United States to assure Red China that the makeup of the proposed peace conference will be broadened, and that there is hope Washington will accept the idea.

Wable Denies Guilt; Wants To Clear Name

ALBUQUERQUE (AP) — Is the phantom killer of the Pennsylvania Turnpike still at liberty?

John Wesley Wable, in Bernalillo County Jail awaiting transport to the eastern state to face murder charges in the superhighway slayings, says he is.

"I want to go home to clear my name," he says. "I didn't kill nobody."

But New Mexico police remained mum about the story told by the 25-year-old Wable, captured Sunday night by officers at Belen, N.

County Youth To Receive American Farmer Award

A Marion County youth, Richard E. Lawrence of Claridon, will be honored tonight as one of the nation's outstanding young farmers.

He will be among the 336 youths in the nation who will receive the American Farmer degree of the Future Farmers of America.

He will receive his award at the 25th annual convention of the Future Farmers of America, being held at the Municipal Auditorium in Kansas City, Mo.

He is one of ten farmers so honored in Ohio. He was picked because of his leadership and scholarship and for following a sound farm program.

In 1950, Lawrence was named one of the FFA's State Farmers, the first time a student from Claridon received the award. The following year, he was named State

Guiana Leftists Homes Raided

British Troops Seek Evidence of Red Plot

GEORGETOWN, British Guiana, (AP)—British troops and police raided the headquarters of the leftist Peoples Progressive Party and homes of its leaders today as a strike spread through this British colony's major sugar industry.

The raiders apparently sought documents to support Britain's charges that the PPP had been plotting to set up a Communist state in British Guiana.

There was no immediate indication that the government planned to arrest the PPP leader, ex-Premier Cheddi Jagan, and five other Cabinet ministers fired with him last week in the British crackdown.

In addition to Jagan's home, those of his brother Sirpaul and of Rory Westmaas, described by the British as a ringleader in the alleged Red plot, were among those raided.

Troops mounted machineguns in trucks blocking off some streets, including those leading to the party headquarters.

Observers figured the PPP-called strike would halt at least 50 per cent of British Guiana's sugar industry in a few days. It got off to a slow start yesterday because of the Pan—American Day Holiday.

Woman Stays In Jail With Her Employer

Police Charge Man With Killing Wife In Triangle Slaying

CHARLOTTE N C (AP)—A comely office employe, being held as a material witness continued to refuse bond and remained in jail Monday with her employer, who police say bludgeoned his wife to death

The husband Richard Russell, 39-year-old businessman charged with murder, said he knew nothing of his wife's death last Saturday. He told police he saw his wife before he went to sleep and found her body when he awoke

Russell said that his petite 38-year-old wife was "agreeable" to his plans for a divorce but did not know of his love for Miss Barbara Griggs, 23, who worked in his pest-exterminating supply business Held under $5 000 bond as a material witness, Miss Griggs said she doesn't want to leave the jail where Russell is held without bond

In police headquarters Saturday, Russell put his arms around the sobbing Miss Griggs and said, "I love her better than anything else in the world"

The body was found in the Russell's shop below their apartment Police said bloodstains on the upstairs bedroom ceiling placed the killing in that room, where Russell maintains he slept through the night. He said he saw his wife as he retired in their bedroom at 1:30 a m Saturday, and found her body in a downstairs storeroom when he awoke about 7 a m.

The coroner, Dr M W Summerville, said she died about 2 a. m. Police said their investigations led them to believe the husband killed her at that time, dragged the body downstairs, spent the next five hours or so cleaning up evidence, then called police

The coroner said Mrs Russell was killed by a blow on the head. The weapon has not been found.

She was the former Althea Matilda Schmid of Allentown, Pa., and a funeral home here said the body will be sent to Pennsylvania for burial.

Questioning of Russell, who was graduated from the University of Pennsylvania in 1936, began when police, noting some leaky plumbing, found a pair of his trousers, cut into strips, in waste pipes of his two-story office-apartment on the fringe of the downtown business district. Police quoted him as saying he last saw the pants when he hung them in his bedroom closet a day before the slaying.

Mrs. Russell was slain on the eve of a week's visit by her husband's parents, Dr and Mrs E D. Russell. The father, a retired Ephrata, Pa., physician, stood at the side of his son in the police station the day of the slaying

'IT'S ONE BIG HAPPY FAMILY,' said Judge Edmund Jarecki, shown holding Richard O'Connell, 2, and Christine Erickson, 6, in Chicago after an adoption hearing. The multiple adoption results from marriage last March of Henry O'Connell, 46, father of four, and Mrs. Louise Erickson, mother of three, who were "back fence" neighbors in Skokie, Ill So they went one step further and adopted each other's children Other children in the photo with the parents are (from left) John O'Connell, 6; Dennis Erickson, 11, Sara O'Connell, 11, Henry O Connell, 13, James Erickson, 12.

GOP Women Seek Support in Drive For Taft Memorial

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The Ohio Federation of Republican Women's Organizations hopes to secure support from other parts of the nation for its drive to establish a Robert A. Taft memorial

Mrs. Katherine Kennedy Brown of Dayton announced formation of the Taft Memorial Committee at a banquet climaxing the federation's 14th annual call conference in Columbus yesterday. She named a committee comprising 16 Ohioans but said the committee may be expanded to include others throughout the country wishing to suport the movement.

Mrs. Brown commenced that the late Sen. Taft had been "very close" to the federation. Her statement said in part.

"As the Lincoln and Jefferson memorials . . . signify the greatness of their subjects, so now it is fitting that the most indispensable man in three generations be kept in the vivid consciousness of our citizenry"

Members of the committee include Sen. John W. Bricker, Congressman Clarence J. Brown, who is a Republican National Committeeman, Republican State Chairman Ray Bliss, Mrs. L E. Hoyt, Chillicothe, Mrs John Galvin, Piqua,; Mrs Louis Devoe, Ashland, Mrs Arthur Lynn Portsmouth, Mrs. Louella Baker, Canton, Mrs Marian Blair, Warren, and Mrs. Ruth Fox, Elyria.

The name "New Mexico," the oldest state name in the Union except Florida, was first applied by Francisco de Ibarra in 1565.

In Loving Remembrance

Of Mrs. Mary Hess, who passed away one year ago

A precious one from us has gone,
A voice we loved is stilled;
A place is vacant in our home,
Which never can be filled.
God in His wisdom has recalled,
The soul His love had given,
And though the body slumbers here,
The soul is safe in Heaven.

McKay Takes Middle Path on Power Issue

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)— Interior Secretary Douglas McKay says the United States should neither forsake nor monopolize the electric power business.

He told newsmen last night there are many places where private enterprise can develop power claims and others where the government should step in.

McKay spoke to Ohio Federation of Republican Women's Organizations at Ohio State University.

Man With $11,425 In Wallet Caught With $25 Topcoat

BOSTON (AP)—Police today had in custody a man they said tried to steal a $25 topcoat from a department store—although he had $11,425 in cash in his wallet.

Police said Chester Sargent, 60, expressed surprise when told how much he had in his wallet, saying he thought there was about $5,000 but wasn't sure as "I hadn't counted it for some time."

His landlady told police she reduced his $4 weekly rent a quarter after he pleaded poverty.

His record shows he was sentenced to three years in prison 23 years ago as a common and notorious thief.

Barber Shop Quartets To Compete at Delaware

Special to The Star

DELAWARE — The Delaware Kiwanis Club will sponsor a barber shop quartet contest at Gray Chapel on Oct. 21 and winners in four classifications, high school, university, girls and general, will be given awards.

The event will be arranged in cooperation with the Columbus Buckeye Chapter of the Society for the Preservation and Encouragement of Barber Shop Quartet Singing in America.

Prizes of $25 and $10 will be offered for first and second place teams.

Following the contests, the Columbus chapter of the SPEBSQSA will present its Parade of Quartets and the 30-voice Buckeye Chorus will also appear.

Paul Cunningham is general chairman of the program. Master of ceremonies and stage manager is Ralph Hoffines.

Marseilles Group Meets With WSCS in Morral

Members of the Marseilles Methodist Church WSCS were entertained by the WSCS of the Morral Methodist Church recently at the Morral Church.

Presiding was Mrs. DeJon Hassell, vice president. Mrs. J. True Yocom was devotional leader and Mrs. Frank Haner had charge of prayer.

Talks were given by Mrs. F. R. Loomis, "Mexico", Mrs. John Shifflet, "South America"; Mrs. Darius Washburn, "Making of Missionaries", Mrs. Kenneth Williams, "Africa"; Mrs. Darrell Borland, "India"; Mrs. Hassell, "The Philippines." Mrs. Hassell also gave a short talk on the experiences of her brother-in-law and sister, Dr. and Mrs. Don Jones, who were missionaries in India for a few years.

Mrs. Hassell offered a vocal solo and the meditation was by Mrs. Yocom.

Author Finds Man Who Lives Up to Book Title

ALBUQUERQUE (AP)—William E. Vance, a writer of Western stories, was sitting in his car waiting for the signal light to change, reflecting fondly on the sale of his latest book.

From nowhere a large, husky individual came up to the car window, threw a punch at Vance, then drove off in a waiting car.

Vance wonders if the big fellow had read the new book: "Avenger From Nowhere."

Solution for Trieste

An American can't be blamed for trying to ignore the possibility of an outbreak of war over a relatively unimportant territory called Trieste.

Americans have just paid a high price for an outbreak of war over a relatively unimportant peninsula called Korea.

Before that, they watched Europe, first, then the United States, get sucked into war over places called the Rhineland, Danzig, Manchukuo and — in World War I—Sarajevo. Wars start little and grow big. Trieste cannot be dismissed with a shrug.

It is a perennial ghost that stalks diplomacy and sometimes is turned to diplomatic advantage temporarily, as it was in 1948 when the United States, Great Britain and France promised it to Italy to make the Italians feel good before an election. No one knew at that time there was going to be a change of heart in Marshal Tito of Yugoslavia, which also wants Trieste. Tito was a Kremlin stooge in 1948.

When he broke with the Kremlin, the diplomats had a new game to play. Trieste had been split since the end of World War II, with Yugoslavia controlling one section and the United States and Great Britain controlling the other. Having promised all of Trieste to Italy to help win an election, the diplomats then promised Tito he could have some of it back to help win an ally. That infuriated the Italians.

The diplomats now have infuriated everybody and, characteristically, have decided to pull out of the mess they managed to develop. Hence, Trieste is back in the news—one of the places where thousands of soldiers could be killed because politicians were too stupid to handle their responsibilities.

There will be talk of a "solution for Trieste." Only one solution could make the problem disappear. All residents of the Territory would have to visit relatives in Upper Slobovia. While they were away, there would have to be a landslide which would deposit the 270 square miles of Trieste into the top of the Adriatic Sea, out of sight, out of mind, out of controversy.

Business Women's Week

In the background material made available to newspapers by the National Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs for National Business Women's Week (Oct. 11-17) we have searched in vain for what surely is the key to the 20th century status of the business woman.

Nowhere in all the material is it mentioned that she has made herself indispensable in business because she is a woman. For a long time, woman scored their business triumphs in spite of the fact they were women.

Their sex was supposed to be a handicap.

It took a generation for this intricately organized society to realize that women have not only the privilege but the obligation to share in the administration of business and professional affairs; that they belong on the team. The idea finally materialized in this century.

It may turn out to be one of the most important steps taken in the long march toward the intelligent use of all human resources in the building of our American civilization.

The Dog Won't Bite

In the attempt to understand what might be brought about by nonaggression pacts involving both the United States and the Soviet Union in relation to countries like Germany, Korea and Austria, there is the story of the non-biting dog.

This dog never had been known to bite anyone though he looked fierce. His owner was reassuring a stranger on this score.

"All right," said the stranger, "the dog won't bite. You know he won't bite and I know he won't bite, but how do we know he knows he won't bite?"

The United States will not attack the Soviet Union. Its friends know this. It never has attacked any country. Its friends know that under its constitutional form of government it can go to war only if it has been attacked by someone.

But what Secretary of State Dulles is trying to point out, what Adlai E. Stevenson has been calling to attention, what Sir Winston Churchill is aware of and what professional diplomats know is the importance of reassuring the men who are making key decisions for the Soviet Union. They do not know.

The purpose of a nonaggression pact would be to assure these men that the United States could not start any military action involving Russian interests unless it or its allies had been attacked. What is obvious to Americans and their friends would be made equally obvious to Russians.

That would be the only justification for a nonaggression pact with a country whose record of breaking them shows nothing but bad faith.

Great Britain Aroused

Guiana Threat Can Draw England, U.S. Closer

The most important happening in the world at the moment is the realistic change in British policy toward communist imperialism occasioned by the sudden threat of Communists to take over control of British Guiana.

With a swiftness that used to be characteristic of the Colonel Blimps of British diplomacy in the old days, an aircraft carrier and three other warships and several [illegible] hundred troops have been ordered to prevent the Communists from taking over the colonial government and establishing a dictatorship on the northern coast of South America.

The prime minister and five other cabinet officers in British Guiana have been booted out by the London government and a six-months old constitution has been scrapped.

Now nobody in America is arising to propose a "non-aggression" act between the British government in London and the Communists in British Guiana.

Nor is there talk of "negotiation" rather than a show of force as the best way out. Indeed, nobody in the United States is expressing alarm that the British have been too "impulsive" or "impatient" and that this is the kind of thing that leads to "warmongering" or enlargement of the "cold war."

On the contrary the United States government, with a deep-seated belief in the importance of maintaining good faith in alliances, has promptly endorsed the British action and has notified all Latin-American governments that such endorsement has been given. That's unity with a capital "U."

Maybe the London government will appreciate what the United States government didn't do — as, for instance, rushing in to recognize the Red government in British Guiana with an argument that, after all, the local government there exercises complete military control of the whole country and, therefore, is entitled to diplomatic recognition, as the British have argued in defense of their recognition of Red China.

Maybe Prime Minister Nehru of India will disagree with what has been done in British Guiana. He has a sentimental interest, because half the population of British Guiana came originally from India.

The Asian leader, on the other hand, usually confines his epithets about "irresponsible government" to the South Korean regime.

He never criticizes Moscow or Peiping, but aims his verbal bombs at the United States because it refuses to treat as a satellite the South Korean government, set up originally by the U.S., and regards it as an independent government which has made great sacrifices for freedom.

The developments in British Guiana will certainly furnish a test of Nehru's consistency.

What has occasioned surprise here, however, is that the British government in London has itself risen so resolutely to the occasion and that it discovered before it was too late how Communists infiltrate a free country.

The British evidently are not so much in need of a McCarthy, after all, as has been thought by some American observers, including this writer.

Somehow the British government now has come to believe that the "left wing" people's Progressive party in British Guiana isn't just a political party but a treasonable conspiracy, and that to interfere with the sacred right of "free speech" and the right to "political beliefs" in such a situation is merely to assert the right of self-preservation for British rule as against a plotted rebellion.

Maybe now there will be less scoffing in Britain at so-called "witch-hunting" or "hysteria" in America and those "reckless Americans" who insist on exposing a Communist plot long before it gets to the point of actually taking over a government.

Certainly this concrete examle in British Guiana of what Communist infiltration can do — when its activities are too long looked upon as merely "political beliefs" without regard to conspiratorial acts — will have a salutary effect throughout the world.

It certainly vindicates the persistent efforts of the committees of Congress here in exposing Communist "methods." For, if the British government, known everywhere for its tolerance cannot brook the treason of the Communist leaders in British Guiana, Britons can hardly sneer at the American attitude toward Communist conspiracies.

It could lead to a decided improvement in British-American relations.

The Battle for Survival

By TRUMAN TWILL

I was looking at those sheep which live at our place when I got home last night.

A fellow who takes sheep-raising seriously had been telling me over the telephone about his triumphs and disappointments. He happens to have 10 times as many sheep on his large place as we have on our small one — only 36 — but he has been having 50 times more trouble.

That was why it seemed like a good idea to inspect at the Twilley flock. There's some kind of a mystery about them. They're living on borrowed time.

No one ever pours any medicine down their unwilling throats. No one picks ticks off their wooly backs or drowns the ticks with sheep dip.

They are not made to walk back and forth through pools of antiseptic to keep their feet from being afflicted with horrible diseases. No one barbers them to make them sartorially slick.

The pasture they have been whittling down since new grass began to come up through the snow late last winter is enough to make an agronomist turn pale and turn in his credentials.

The hay put aside for their ruminator in the winter would be rejected by other livestock, except for a portion used to keep up their spirits on tough winter days when it's too mean to search for random goodies outside.

They have raised their families in housing that would be slum conditions even for a sheep. They stay out in the rain when they should be snug and dry inside. They mope inside when it would be nicer, all things considered, for them to be strolling about outside.

When people who claim to know something about sheep look at this weird setup in which the dumb animals are allowed to be as dumb as they want to be, they shake their heads and say they can't understand how the sheep survive and flourish. It's as goofy as underprivileged children growing up to be business tycoons. According to those who are paid to know, it just isn't natural.

The only ones who seem to think it's natural are the sheep, who survived somehow before there were veterinarians, medicines, dips and preventives. The sheep apparently have a fine time doing what comes naturally.

Night before last a pair of them had a fine time clinking heads down by the creek. It was something like football — back up, run forward, clink heads, then do it all over again. The sheep know what they like.

They like weeds, sleeping outside, bark off trees and multiflora rose plants that are supposed to grow up and be a living fence. They like salt and to scratch their backs on the branches of fallen trees. They like to graze after dark when there is fresh dew to lap up, to make fox-and-geese tracks in the winter snow and to have their spring accouchements in private.

They are indulged in these little whims to the limit, though it is unscientific and irregular. Sometime I must read up on the subject so I will know more than the sheep about what is good for sheep and can share the problems of people who take this matter seriously.

And when I go home tonight I must be sure to look to see if the sheep are still there. They've been around in varying numbers for four years with only one mortality, but they should have given up long ago and passed on — long ago — victims of neglect.

Russian Abacus

VANCOUVER (AP)—A bookkeeper in a West Vancouver business house has a simple adding device which is not conducive to gaining the favor of the adding machine salesman.

In fact, Woldemar Janz showed recently that the modern adding machine is no match for his ancient Russian abacus, which consists of seven horizontal rows of 10 beads. With the aid of his manual calculator, Janz defeated an adding machine in a straight test for speed and accuracy.

Machiavelli in Modern Setting

By Raymond Moley

Two tinpot Machiavellians, both professing the new "liberalism," have recently expressed views of political expediency which recall those times 400 years ago when a Florentine with no illusions wrote of the decadent politics of his age.

Perhaps they show how durable have been the political practices which Machiavelli recommended to the contemporary Medici.

My first example is Hubert Humphrey, senator from Minnesota and big shot in the Americans for Democratic Action. In the current Newsweek magazine he tells correspondent Samuel Shaffer of his strategy for his campaign for re-election in 1954.

Humphrey recognizes, writes Shaffer, that President Eisenhower "is even more popular today" than he was last November. Hence, he will avoid making a direct assault.

"The senator's tactic," continues Shaffer, "has been to snipe at the administration's flanks."

At a Democratic dinner the senator said: "Hubert Humphrey is. . . holding up Ike so that the Republicans won't drag him in the mud." In short, he will try to ride with Ike for a while.

Shaffer writes: "If the President retains his popularity, Humphrey will refrain from attacking him. 'There won't be any need for it,' he explains."

What Humphrey really means is that it won't be healthy for him to oppose the President as long as the President is popular.

"However," Shaffer adds, "if Mr. Eisenhower slips, then Humphrey will tear right into them."

My second example is Adolph Berle, Jr., long a member of the Roosevelt administration and for a while ambassador to Brazil.

Long ago, when he was a member of the so-called Brains Trust, he commented that he was absorbing political education by reading Machiavelli's "Prince" once a year. That education now serves him well, for he has ascended to the chairmanship of Dave Dubinsky's Liberal party.

The Liberal candidate for mayor of New York is Rudolp Halley. As a member of the Board of Estimate, it became his responsibility to vote for a transit authority whose duty would be to raise subway fares to save the city from bankruptcy.

Since the people of New York have been hoodwinked into believing that they could have low fares and high service, it was an unpleasant political duty to vote for honest fares.

Facing this bitter choice, Halley seems to have talked things over with Berle, his Liberal friend and mentor. So, according to Berle, this is what happened:

"I talked it over with him, and we agreed that if his vote was needed, if it was that or having the whole thing go into a tailspin, he'd vote for it, but that he wouldn't vote for it unless he had to. What he was saying is that that is a bad job, and as his vote wasn't needed to pass it, he could afford to vote against it and did."

And so Halley voted against the bitter pill which his more responsible and conscientious colleagues passed in the face of political peril.

Sincerity, responsibility, and courage seem to me not only to have a close relationship in politics, but are parts of the same whole. All three are apparently lacking in these professing reformers.

The pity is that both have been professors in fact. Humphrey before entering politics taught political science.

Berle was and is a professor in the Columbia Law School. They should know better. Or, shall I say, perhaps they know too much.

Tailor-Made Crops

By Thomas R. Henry

New kinds of growth-control chemicals which may make it possible to "tailor" crops are being tested by Department of Agriculture scientists.

Wide possibilities are foreseen as a result. For instance:

Truck farmers make several plantings of beans in order to have a crop coming on through the season. It would be more economical to plant them all at once, using a growt hregulator to hold back part of the crop.

Such plants as snap beans often produce a mass of stems and leaves but little fruit. One of the new chemicals may control the top growth and let more of the soil nutrients go into the beans themselves.

Shrubs might serve a home many years longer if they were treated to prevent their growth to inconvenient sizes.

It may be possible to produce a dwarf alfalfa for hillside pastures which will furnish nitrogen to the soil and yet not compete with sod-holding grasses.

Thus far Drs. J. W. Mitchell, P. C. Marth and W. H. Preston have tested three groups of chemicals with growth-regulating properties which differ decidedly for different plants. One group consists of six ammonium compounds of which the best known is the so-called AMO-1618.

The use of as little as a pound of Amo-1618 to the acre drastically checked the growth of snap beans, blooming was delayed three to ten days, and maturity lagged a month or more. The chemical has a stem-shortening effect on chrysanthemums, sunflowers and sesame.

A moderate response was noted on lespedeza, peas, lettuce, tobacco, maple and pin oak. Alfalfa was slightly affected.

Another group consists of nicotine compounds. They have much the same effects as the ammonium group. One has worked well on beans and peas.

Third are sulphur compounds, one of which shortened the stems of beans, cucumbers and sunflowers. Another had the same effect on poinsettias and Easter lilies.

The research, it is emphasized in the Department of Agriculture report, still is far from the stage where these chemicals can be recommended to farmers. The possibilities of permanently poisoning the soil and permanently changing plant characteristics still are unexplored.

The General's Wife

By ANNETTE DAVIS
(For Jane Eads)

WASHINGTON

Helen McAuliffe, wife of the recently appointed commander of the Seventh Army in Germany, Lt. Gen. Anthony C. McAuliffe, is looking forward to the new assignment abroad.

"I've been following along for 33 years," she told me, "except when Gen. McAuliffe went to war."

The general became famous in World War II during the Battle of Bastogne when he said "nuts" to the Germans who expected him to surrender.

Mrs. McAuliffe said her husband was thrilled to have an assignment again with the troops after a desk job in Washington.

They will live in Stuttgart where she hopes to take in the opera and some of the concerts. An accomplished musician, she loves to play the piano, both classical and popular music, and says she never gets lonely as long as there's a piano around.

Her daughter Patricia, will accompany her to Germany. Like any other Army wife, Mrs. McAuliffe will follow her husband when space is available on an Army transport. "Probably in November," she says. A son, John, will stay in this country.

A native of Washington with a slightly southern accent, Mrs. McAuliffe told me she met her husband here when they were both going to Eastern High School.

She describes herself as "not a sportswoman," loves to do things around the house, especially likes to cook.

Police Plan 3-D Color

OMAHA (AP)—Omaha police, who have already begun using color pictures for identification purposes, are now looking forward to adding a three-dimensional depth system as soon as funds are availab'e.

Local officers think the 3-D system may be the first in the nation.

The idea of both color and 3-D is to provide more lifelike pictures, when projected on a screen, for identification purposes.

The Once Over

By H. I. Phillips

Real News Newsreel

"Break up Casey Stengel!" is the new cry in both leagues. His complete removal from the scene is certainly necessary for the future of Brooklyn. Suggestions have poured into this department and we give you the cream of the crop:

1. — Get Flatbush a seat in U N so it can file charges against Casey as an aggressor state, definitely hampering the brotherhood and peace. (Impose sanctions or something. If we can get Casey and the diplomats all talking at [illegible] once it can keep him out of baseball anyhow.)

2 — Get Senator McCarthy to allege that Stengel, when a youth, voted as directed by his grandfather.

3 — Offer $100,000 to any Bronx flier who will deliver Casey to Brooklyn together with his system, charts, crystal-gazing outfits, hunches, etc.

4—Start deportation proceedings on a charge that he entered this country under the name of Aladdin and that his wonderful lamp was never naturalized.

5 — Arrange with Ringlings to outbid the Yankee Management and hire him as a circus attraction. (The Bum-Devouring Man, or "Bingo, Half Man and Half Fox.")

6 — Bribe Professor Piccard to hire him for his Bathysphere descents two miles under the sea.

THE PROOF

The series is a memory,
The last dispute now fades,
No longer is the air replete
With talks on razor blades!

Johnny Mize is probably quitting baseball because he is tired of being out of employment.

The U. S. tax office got $377,000 from the World Series. This definitely ends all arguments over who was the best catcher for the six games.

You never know what genuine double talk is until you ask the modern brokerage house man for an opinion on the stock market.

Milton Berle, in abandoning his slapstick routines, may be going too far the other way, we think. Show is heavy with plot. We never thought we would live to see the day when we would watch Milton work and ask, "Yes, he's fine, but will the Theater Guild want him?"

With the world series a matter of history, we feel that the announcers on radio and TV were far too gabby. They overestimate people's desire for trivial comment, excessive data and running-fire chatter. Taking the commercials, sales plugs on top of all the unnecessary gabbiness was an ordeal.

There must have been many a moment when the TV audience would have given anything for a picture of the ball game WITHOUT VOICES. A good description of the game, yes, but not all that blather about a shortstop having an uncle named Gus who once had a cousin with the Baltimore Orioles, a pitcher whose hobby is goopy culture and sleeps on his right side and the catcher who is close to the all-time world series record for calluses on his pinkie sustained in the first four games during a mild September with prevailing southwest winds.

Henry Ford made an address in U N the other day and we wish he had told the Russians something about "gas" economy.

Our TV set was in a bad shape after the series . . . . Guess we should have given it a longer rest between games.

Sophie Tucker rates plenty of credit and applause, but despite all those speeches at the testimonial dinner we still have a little trouble placing her ahead of Florence Nightingale, Niagara Falls, Mollie Pitcher, the Hanging Gardens of Babylon, Betsy Ross, Yellowstone National Park, the Queen of Sheba, Maude Adams, Native Dancer and the first day of Spring.

Martin's last hit in the series was worth $2,000 to each Yankee, and a grand total of around $30,000 to the team. That's a lot of dough just for ending a day's work on time.

News of Other Years

TEN YEARS AGO — It was Wednesday, Oct. 13, 1943.

Notice of their retirement from active duty was made by Maj. and Mrs. Joseph Heard of 478 Cherry St., in charge of the Marion Corps of the Salvation Army. They planned to make their home in Floral Park, Long Island, N.Y.

President Roosevelt, Prime Minister Churchill and Premier Stalin announced Italy had declared war against Germany. The White House said Marshal Badoglio had communicated Italy's declaration against her former axis partner to Gen. Eisenhower.

A son was born to Lt. and Mrs. W. O. Rudin of 448 S. Vine St. in City Hospital. Lt. Rudin was in the Navy stationed in the Pacific area.

Tom Kerrigan Jr. of Washington D. C., was visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Kerrigan of 814 E. Center St.

"Midnight," a mystery comedy, was selected as the junior class play of Harding High School.

TWENTY YEARS AGO — It was Friday, Oct. 13, 1933.

F. E. Roach, astronomer on duty at the Perkins observatory of Ohio Wesleyan University announced he had discovered a brilliant meteor.

A "Friday the Thirteenth" baby son was born to Mr. and Mrs. Almon Lamus of Green Camp.

Rev. George W. Howard, 64, pastor of Forest Church of God at Forest, died of poisoning contracted when he ate toadstools, mistaking them for mushrooms.

Dr. Maude L. Bull of S. State St., Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Bull and Miss Katherine Smith of S. High St. returned from a visit with friends in Niagara Falls, Toronto and Weston, Canada.

Friends of Miss Adeline Hecker of Blaine Ave. gave her a surprise party in celebration of her birthday anniversary.

Sixty couples attended a hard time dance at the Marion Country Club for members of the Y's Men's Service Club and their wives. Marion Hinklin was chairman of the social committee.

The speaker, who has been pastor of the Peace Lutheran Church at Galion for 28 years, is widely known as a dynamic speaker with a purposeful message. He is nationally-known having been a past trustee and past vice president of Kiwanis International. He is also listed in "Who's Who in America." He has for a number of years, been active in youth work including Boy Scouts and other youth groups and camps. He is also a well-known commencement speaker.

Lawrence Fields will act as toastmaster for the banquet and dinner music will be played by Miss Martha Bess Hoagland at the piano. A local male quartet, under the direction of Richard McConnell, instructor of music in the schools, will sing.

Construction of Church Under Way at Fulton

Special to The Star

MT. GILEAD — Construction of a Church of the Nazarene is now under way at Fulton. It was announced this week by the pastor, Rev. Harold Klingel. The new church is located on Route 61, about 500 feet south of the intersection of the Fulton-Chesterville Road.

The new building will be 66 by 34 feet and will be of cement block and frame construction. Sunday school rooms and an auditorium for the young people will be located in the basement.

The Fulton church was started in 1948 with Rev. Klingel as the first pastor. The church has a membership of 55 and Sunday School attendance is about 70.

No definite completion date has been set but it is hoped to have the church ready for use late this year.

Miss Pauline Weston Named Circle President

Miss Pauline Weston was elected president of the Forest Lawn Presbyterian Guild Circle recently at the home of Mrs. Rose Mary Metz of 148 Baker St. Mrs. Dorothy Isett was elected vice president; Miss Ardith Walker, secretary; and Miss Geraldine Hartley, treasurer. Miss Annabelle Young was enrolled as a new member, and Miss Dixie Swihart was a guest. The meeting was in charge of Mrs. Genevieve Seckel, and Miss Weston led devotions.

Mrs. Betty Merritt presented the topic from "The Sun Is Out," and an article from the publication Outreach was given by Mrs. Seckel. Entertainment was in charge of Miss Walker, and awards went to Miss Weston and Miss Patricia Richie. Announcement was made that officers and the officers-elect will attend a training course at First Presbyterian Church in Marion Oct. 20. The new officers will take over their duties in January. The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Seckel at 230 Barnhart St.

CONVICT PLANS APPEAL

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — William St. Cyr, 27-year-old Hartford, Conn. convict, today will appeal his conviction on a charge of rioting during the 1952 Halloween disorder at Ohio Penitentiary. St. Cyr was acquitted last week on a charge of malicious property destruction but was fined $500 and sentenced to 30 additional days in the workhouse for rioting. He will ask Franklin County criminal court to set aside the verdict.

Smog Shortening Life, Los Angeles Group Told

LOS ANGELES (AP)—There is evidence that smog is shortening the lives of people in Los Angeles, says the smog committee chairman of the Los Angeles County Medical Assn.

"No one can say this positively, but we suspect—we have reason to believe this," Dr. Francis M. Pottinger Jr. told the Pure Air Committee yesterday.

He praised Dr. John Barrow, a past president of the association, who recently listed smog as one of the causes of a patient's death. "Other doctors haven't had the intestinal fortitude to do so, although they believed smog was responsible to some degree," he said.

MRS. DON F. LOUDENSLAGER

Miss Reva Shifflet Becomes Bride of Don Loudenslager

On Sunday, Oct. 4, in Epworth Methodist Church, Miss Reva Ilean Shifflet, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond D. Shifflet of Morral, became the bride of Don Francis Loudenslager. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Forest D Loudenslager, near Morral.

The double ring ceremony was read at 2:30 o'clock in the afternoon by Rev. Walter M Theobald of Sullivan, Ill., assisted by Rev Walter C. Eyster, pastor of Epworth Church.

Presenting a program of prenuptial music were Mr. and Mrs George Lane and Miss Ann Crabtree, vocalist.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of chromespun taffeta in a candlelight shade The fitted bodice was accented with a double bertha collar, and the floor-length, bouffant skirt fell over a hoop. A crown of seed pearls held her fingertip length veil of illusion. Her jewelry was a single strand of pearls, a gift from the bridegroom, and she carried an arm sheath of white roses

Attending the bride as maid of honor was Miss Cloney Murphy of Caledonia, bridesmaid was Miss Jeannie Parker of Morral, and junior bridesmaid was Miss Jane Ann Loudenslager, sister of the bridegroom. Their gowns were fashioned alike, similar to that of the bride, of chromespun taffeta in an Edwardian rose shade. They wore white button mums in their hair and carried arm sheaths of white baby mums

Roy A. Loudenslager served his brother as best man and ushers were Ronald Craycraft, James Shifflet, Dallas Campbell and Richard Leuthold of Bucyrus Lighting the candles were Max and Wayne Shifflet, brothers of the bride.

Immediately following the ceremony, a reception was held in the church parlors. Assisting were Mrs. J. E Oliphant, Mrs Homer R. Waddell, Mrs W. L. Williams, Mrs W. M Theobald of Sullivan, Ill, Mrs. J C Myers Jr. of Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., Mrs T. L. Reeves of Pittsboro, N. C., Mrs. Robert Shifflet of Morral, Miss Bonnie Winn, Mrs. Mary Withrow, Miss Jo Ann Gasmier, Miss Nancy Gasmier and Miss Nancy Theobald.

Later, the couple left on a wedding trip to the Ozarks and Lake of Ozarks, then to Kansas City to attend the National FFA convention

Out-of-town guests at the wedding were from Sullivan, Ill., Columbus, Ga., Pittsboro, N. C., Sault Ste Marie, Mich., Knoxville, Ind., Washington C.H., Worthington, Columbus, Upper Sandusky, Richwood, Forest, Bucyrus, Waterville and Ostrander

At the rehearsal dinner given by Mrs H R Waddell and Mrs. F. L. Thomas at the Thomas home on S Main St., Miss Shifflet presented necklaces and earrings to her attendants and Mr. Loudenslager gave a tie clasp and cuff links to the best man and billfolds to the ushers.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Loudenslager are graduates of Morral High School. She has been employed at the Marion Power Shovel Co. and he is engaged in farming.

Prior to her marriage, Miss Shifflet was complimented with a number of parties including a shower given by Mrs. Merle Hamilton, a dinner by Mrs. Harold D. Carroll, and a miscellaneous shower by Mrs. Ronald Owen. At the latter event, the honored guest found her gifts hidden throughout the house in the form of a treasure hunt.

Personal Mention

DON'T WASH —JUST SOAK

Dishes soak grease-free in seconds! No washing is needed. If food clings, a touch of the dishcloth gets it off. There's no greasy dishwater with Vel — no ring around the pan!

DON'T WIPE —JUST RINSE

Yes! Just soak and rinse. Dishes dry streak-free without wiping! Even heavy grease in pots and pans is so completely dissolved no hard scouring is needed!

No "Detergent Burn" to hands with Vel

PROVE IT YOURSELF — THIS "HAND-HEAT TEST" SHOWS WHY

Dip hands in water. Then put a tablespoonful of any leading washday detergent in one hand — put a tablespoonful of VEL in the other

Advice (?) to Brides

Nag Your Husband? Sure, Says Boyle

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—"Whatever you do, don't nag your husband," young brides are often warned. "If there is one thing a man can't stand in a wife it's nagging."

This is about the most ridiculous advice you could possibly plant in a young girl's head just before her husband staggers across the threshold of their new home, carrying her lightly in his arms. There are two reasons why:

1. A good wife can no more keep from nagging her husband than a porcupine can refain from growing quills.

2. Any husband whose wife does not nag him is bound to find out sooner or later how little she really loves him. Being nagged brings more real pleasure to a man than anything else in marriage, because it lasts longer.

Let's explore that first reason. Why must wives nag?

To begin with, it is a healthy way to get rid of the excess energy bottled up in them. The human race, whether it is kinfolk to the monkey tribe or not, is like the monkey in one respect—it is needlessly restless, and it has to let that restlessness out.

With a man it is easy. He can belly laugh, shout at the stars, cross and uncross his legs, scratch himself, yawn and stretch, rub his face, wave his arms, chain smoke a pipe, cigarettes or cigars, play cards half the night, eat too much, drink too much, get in bellowing arguments, or pick fights with cabdrivers. He can even play golf.

These pleasant male ways of getting rid of energy are either totally taboo to a woman or are available to her in only limited measure. She is taught from childhood that nice little girls simply must not act like wild little boys.

After the honeymoon, she still finds she is almost as repressed. Her hubby is too tired to go dancing. Crocheting bores her. What shall she do with all the energy burning within her?

She has a mild quarrel with her husband, and afterward feels relaxed. She makes the amazing discovery, 'Why I can get all the exercise I need through my vocal chords!"

And from then on she has to nag somebody or lose her muscle tone. Of course, a few wives overdo it, and jaw themselves into double chins in their effort to talk themselves into shape. It is these exceptions that have given nagging its bad name. But a sensible husband knows a routine bawling out from his wife doesn't mean much and tells himself, 'she isn't really picking on me. She's just trying to keep herself physically fit."

A wise wife understands that, too — in time. She learns it is all right to nag her man about anything in the world—so long as it isn't important. If it is something really important, they generally both realize he needs her help more than she needs vocal exercise.

The real value of nagging to a husband arises from one of the chief differences between the sexes. Man is a thinker, a dreamy critic of the world who would rather brood about what's wrong than do anything to change it. Woman is a doer, a reformer, who insists that any area of life under her control be styled in a pattern she prefers. And she stubbornly tries to mend the imperfections, often with the needle of her tongue.

If women ever dared to criticize God, it probably would be for resting on the seventh day after making the world, and—just like a man—leaving a lot of loose ends they have to tie together.

Except for nagging, would the average husband ever get to the dinner table, buy a new suit, get a haircut or a raise in pay? He knows he is being nagged by a loving heart, and that without it he probably would subside into the bum nature intended him to be.

The right kind of nagging never made a man a nervous wreck. The husband who ought to be nervous is the one whose wife no longer bothers to nag him. What is she doing for exercise? Club work?

As a matter of fact the real trouble with nagging in many modern marriages is that the man doesn't do enough of it. Many a woman henpecks her husband today because he is too dumb to realize how much she yearns to be a husband-pecked wife.

Woman Hunter Gets Her Answer in Short Order

SQUAW CREEK CANYON, Calif. (AP)—Hunter W. S. Lloyd swears it happened.

A woman walked up to him yesterday in the woods, he said, and asked:

"My husband's trying to hunt bear, but there aren't any around here, are there?"

Suddenly a piece of redwood bark fell to the ground. Lloyd looked up and fired. A 250-pound black bear tumbled out of the tree and dropped at the woman's feet.

Patrol District Lists Activities

381 Accidents, 1,318 Arrests Are Reported

Activities in September of newly formed district two of the State Highway Patrol post, which has headquarters in Bucyrus, were reported today by Cpl. D. M. Dewalt of the Marion station.

The new district has jurisdiction over 10 north central Ohio counties. Posts included in the district are located at Marion, Bucyrus, Baybridge, Fremont, Norwalk and Mansfield.

During September, there were 381 accidents in the district. Eight were fatal accidents, in which a total of 11 persons were killed. There were 147 personal injury accidents, in which 247 persons received injuries.

Officers in the district made 1,318 arrests. Of these, 1,039 were for traffic violations, 264 for registration and overload violations, and 15 for felonies.

A total of 2,392 written warnings were issued, of which 2,325 were for traffic offenses, and 67 for registration faults.

In other activities, 587 school buses were inspected, eight safety talks were given, stolen property worth $5,880 was recovered, 4,765 trucks were weighed, and 1,651 persons given drivers license examinations.

First Graders' Mothers Honored by PTA at Tea

Mothers of new pupils at Oakland elementary school this year were honored by the Oakland Heights PTA at a recent tea at the school.

The new school principal, Ray Silver, was introduced by Mrs. Darrel Vermillion, who was in charge of the program, after which Mrs. Harvey Woy led in devotions. Mrs. Janet Campbell, a fifth grade teacher at the school, played a piano number.

A get-acquainted period followed the program in which each mother was introduced. Mrs. Procter Ferrin headed the refreshment committee.

WORLD'S DEEPEST WELL PASSES 4-MILE MARK
BAKERSFIELD, CAL., Oct. 12—Still drilling after breaking the world's depth record at 20,522 feet, The Ohio Oil Company's exploratory well in the Paloma Field, California, today is approaching

"Okay, it's a deep hole...but what's that to me?"

Maybe this inch-by-inch drilling four miles deep into the earth won't produce a single drop of oil.

But this $1,500,000 wildcat well may reveal that brand-new sources of oil are waiting at depths previously unexplored.

That would be important, wouldn't it? To the nation. To you.

But there's one thing it has already revealed that is even more important.

And that's the willingness on the part of a typical oil company to take a risk, to pioneer, to go deeper than anyone has ever gone before in the essential search for new sources of oil.

It's such pioneering and risk-taking, spurred on by competition among thousands of privately managed oil businesses, that is responsible for the almost 33 billion barrels of proved "oil-in-the-ground" in this country, waiting to be produced.

And it's this reassuring backlog, the largest ever, that makes it possible for existing fields to be produced scientifically and efficiently—to get the greatest ultimate production from every field. Which is, of course, the truest kind of conservation.

What's it to you? It's the best possible assurance that for more tomorrows than you—or your children—can see ahead, you'll always be able to drive into a service station and say, "Fill 'er up." That's quite a bit—to you—isn't it?

State Education Board Backed By PTA Group

Legislative Chairman Of Association Lists Reasons for Support

The Marion City Council of the Parents and Teachers Association adopted a resolution Monday night supporting an amendment creating a state board of education for Ohio.

At its regular meeting in Harding High School, the group urged favorable vote on amendment 2 to the constitution which will appear on the ballot at the Nov. 3 election. This amendment is one of nine up for consideration at the November election.

Mrs. Donald Strickland, legislative chairman for city council, explained the amendment to the constitution and presented a list of nine reasons why a board of education means better schools of Ohio.

Her reasons were that it would allow people a voice in education at the state level, it would permit long-term planning for the schools of Ohio, it would not take any power away from the local boards of education, it would provide additional leadership for the schools of Ohio, it would help the state superintendent of instruction the same as the local board helps the local superintendent; it is a national trend—with 44 states having state boards, it is favored by Ohio's director of education, National council of Chief State school officers, the council of state governments, U. S. Chamber of Commerce, the regional school boards associations in Ohio and numerous educational experts; a state school board would be operated on nonpartisan basis; and a state board of education is needed for the same reason a local board of education is needed.

Mrs. Strickland also said a state board of education would not increase taxes.

Floyd Hefaker, principal of Glenwood School, said that the state board of education would help provide better schools because it was easier for long-range planning.

The resolution adopted by the Marion City Council of Parents and Teachers Association endorse proposed amendment 2 on the ballot at the Nov. 3, 1953 election, said amendment creating a state board of education for Ohio and that proper advertisement be given it in our behalf.

Special Program Set For Ashley Lamb Pool

The open house lamb pool at the Ashley stock yards Friday will have several special features in addition to the prizes for high quality lambs.

C. F. Flickinger, fieldman for Producers Livestock Cooperative, will discuss dressing percentage of different quality lambs determined from the dressing plants.

Ralph Grimshaw, livestock husbandman of Ohio State University, will conduct a sheep drenching demonstration and will post a sheep to determine the parasite infection and disease possibilities.

For the winning team of FFA or 4-H club members, the association will give $9 first prize and $6 second for the two teams placing highest in the sheep grading contest. All FFA Chapters in Delaware, Morrow and Marion Counties are invited to send one team of three boys each to take part in this contest. All activities will begin about 1 p.m.

IN THE PRESENCE of the Marion Business and Professional Women's Club president, Miss Mary Martha Lake, Mayor Harold F. Robinson is shown above signing proclamation setting aside this week for local observance of National Business Women's Week. In his proclamation he recommended public recognition of the "great contributions women are making to our nation in the field of public affairs" with the thought that "women long ago proved their competence in matters which were once the exclusive concern of men, and men long ago accepted the logic of profiting from the special skills and aptitudes of women." He gave greetings to the Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs on the occasion of this twenty-sixth anniversary of National Business Women's Week with its theme of "The Ramparts We Build."

Delmas V. Jenkins Named Head Of Circulation Managers Assn.

Delmas V. Jenkins, circulation manager of The Marion Star, was named president of the Ohio Circulation Managers Association at an election held today in Columbus.

The election of officers marked the windup of the group's annual fall meeting which began at the Neil House Sunday and runs through today.

Other officers elected were: William H. Lievtrau of the Dayton Daily News, vice president and advertising manager, Lambert Liddell of the Sandusky Newspapers, secretary-treasurer, and Carl Beske, Elyria Chronicle Telegram, sergeant-at-arms. Retiring president is Ray Kest of the Toledo Blade. All officers serve a one-year term.

Serving as vice president and advertising manager for the last year, Jenkins was nominated to the top post in the association at a meeting held earlier today.

An employe of The Star for 28 years, he has served as circulation manager for the last 25 years with exception of three years during World War II, when he served in the U. S. Army.

A lifetime resident of Marion, he is a graduate of Harding High School and resides at 289 Bradford St.

The OCMA has a total membership of some 110 Ohio newspapers which have circulation of 10,000 or more.

tion of Lou Gehrig following Babe Ruth to the plate."

Burke observed it is not easy to follow "a great senator, one of the greatest."

Burke, like Lausche, is popular at the polls. When Lausche resigned as Cleveland mayor in 1945 to become governor, he appointed Burke. Burke then was elected mayor in 1945, 1947, 1949 and 1951 by overwhelming majorities. Lausche was the only Democrat to gain high state office in the Republican landslide last November.

Burke said he planned to serve out his present term, which ends Nov. 10, unless business in Washington required his presence there.

He is a Catholic and holds degrees from Holy Cross and Western Reserve universities. He is married, has two married daughters and several grandchildren.

The selection of Burke came only one day before a scheduled hearing in the Ohio Supreme Court on an action to compel Lausche to name a successor to Taft.

Surprise Announcement

The UNC, however, has said it was in no hurry to start meeting with the 23 Americans, 1 Briton and 335 South Koreans who have refused repatriation.

The UNC announcement that the Red "explanation" center would be completed so quickly came as a surprise. Only 24 hours earlier the Allied command had set a target date of Oct. 21 for completing the 32 explanation booths the Communists demanded.

The brief Allied announcement said the UNC did not disclose the center was so near completion because "there was no way of determining what difficulties might be encountered in the construction work."

The UNC also announced that the four-nation armistice supervisory commission will investigate Allied charges that the Reds were bringing combat aircraft into North Korea in violation of the truce agreement.

Trieste

este today. The troopship Geiger sailed from the city carrying 250 wives and children. The soldiers are expected to leave next month.

On contrast to the angry demonstrations in Yugoslavia, Trieste itself continued calm.

One fracas, however, was reported from the city of Gorizia, on the Italian-Yugoslav border north of Trieste. Italian frontier guards there said a crowd of Yugoslav youths stoned them yesterday. No injuries were reported.

The predominantly Italian population of Zone A was obviously worried, however, over Tito's threat Sunday to send his own troops into the zone if Italian troops replaced the 7,000 British and American soldiers. Observers on all sides agreed such a move could touch off World War III.

The American intention to stick by the Allied decision was made plain yesterday in Washington by a State Department spokesman shortly before Yugoslavia's foreign secretary, Koca Popovic, conferred for 50 minutes with U. S. Secretary of State Dulles.

Kidnaping

som money, in $10 and $20 bills, was in the apartment-hotel room where Hall was seized. Hall claims he doesn't know what happened to the rest of the $600,000 ransom.

Bobby apparently was killed in Mrs. Heady's station wagon after the couple had driven him to a point near U. S. Highway 69 in Kansas 12 miles from Kansas city.

A bullet found lodged in the blood-stained car was shown by ballistic tests to have been fired from a 38-caliber revolver taken from Hall upon his arrest here.

FBI agents were reportedly still searching a wheat field near the murder scene for the bullet which killed the boy. A mechanical pencil, advertising one of the automobile agencies operated by Robert C. Greenlease Sr. 71-year-old father of the boy, was found at the scene. Bobby was known to have been carrying a pencil of this type.

Marsh's whereabouts still remained a mystery. There has been speculation he may be dead.

A St. Joseph attorney, Bernard Patton, said yesterday Hall made two telephone calls to him in an effort to cover up his trail.

There is vigorous battling between Republican party factions in the Keystone State, and Eisenhower is expected to sidestep any action that might be interpreted as choosing between Sen. Duff (R-Pa), Gov. John S. Fine and Sen. Edward Martin (R-Pa).

He heads west Wednesday for Defiance, Ohio, where he will lay a cornerstone at Defiance College. He will be in a state where Sen. Bricker (R-Ohio) has said Republicans are complaing that jobs aren't forthcoming yet from the national administration.

In Kansas City, Mo., he will breakfast Friday with governors from some of the 13 drought-hit states.

The President will have a chance [illegible] to talk about farm prices—particularly those brought by cattle—at the American Hereford Assn. meeting in Kansas City.

His remarks in New Orleans at the Louisiana Purchase Exposition might well touch on domestic issues, while foreign affairs and power policies may be discussed when he joins with Mexico's President Adolfo Ruiz Cortines in dedicating the Falcon Dam, about 80 miles from Laredo, Tex.

30,000 Arrive At President's Birthday Party

HERSHEY, Pa. (AP)—Pennsylvania Dutch farmers rubbed elbows with governors and Cabinet officers in a gay circuslike atmosphere today as thousands of Republicans poured into this central Pennsylvania "chocolate town" for a unique celebration of President Eisenhower's 63rd birthday.

Nearly 30,000 were expected to be on hand to greet the President and the first lady for their scheduled arrival late in the afternoon.

$100 a Plate Supper

More than 6,000 paid $100 a plate for a roast beef buffet supper to be served in the "big top," a mammoth tent borrowed from Ringling Brothers-Barnum and Bailey Circus. The rest of the crowd brought box lunches.

Mr. and Mrs. Eisenhower will go first to the Hershey Stadium to partake of their own box lunches with the throng. Then they will move over to the colorfully decorated tent 10 yards away to have coffee with the buffet diners.

Tonight, in the 6,400-seat indoor sports arena, the Eisenhowers will join in "a real old-fashioned birthday party." The program includes such parlor games as "pin the tail on the donkey."

A huge five-tiered platform, designed to resemble a birthday cake was erected in the center of the "big top." It was loaded today with more than four tons of Pennsylvania fruits and vegetables.

Waring Heads Pageant

In the arena, bandleader Fred Waring ran through a last-minute rehearsal of a gigantic pageant to be presented in honor of the President. Hundreds of high school and college students donned costumes of pilgrims, coon-skinned pioneers and pilgrims for the show.

Dozens of professional showmen and sports stars will provide the entertainment.

Hundreds of other youngsters prepared for a huge choral and band program to be presented in the stadium for the nonpaying guests.

The entire affair is being staged by the Pennsylvania Republican Finance Committee. It expects to net $600,000 for state and national campaign purposes.

Eight hundred cakes were baked for the occasion by Pennsylvania housewives. One of the cakes will be chosen by lot for the President's private birthday celebration tomorrow in the White House.

EQUIPMENT STOLEN

A rubber-wheeled steel wheelbarrow and an extension ladder were reported missing today from a construction job in Vernon Heights by John Zimmerman of the Reliable Plumbing Co. Zimmerman told the Marion County sheriff's office that the wheelbarrow and ladder apparently were taken some time over the weekend.

United Appeals Campaign Facts

Q. Why is a budget committee necessary?

A. The budget committee acts like a "contribution research" organization. This neutral group of Marion County citizens study the needs and accomplishments of each organization. They are not prone to be carried away by the enthusiasm to which small groups, working exclusively on one vital community service project, are often subject. The value of each service, to the whole community, is weighed and balanced against the other, thus gaining an overall picture. Budgeteers see the forest; agencies, their individual tree. Budget committee members serve to bring all into balance and proper focus. The question they answer: "Is this sound for the community?"

Building Used Constantly

Many Activities Slated For New Marion YMCA

A schedule which will keep the new YMCA building in almost constant use from morning until night was announced today by Marvin Ludwig, youth secretary of the organization.

Beginning at 10 a.m. today, activities will be conducted until at least 10:15 tonight. Schedules for the rest of the week are as crowded as today.

Family programs will not be held for about two weeks, Ludwig said. He explained the directors wish to have an opportunity to assimilate all the other groups to the practices followed in the new building before attempting to [illegible] handle the family programs.

STARTING the schedule today are weight lifting, body building and special and individual workouts for men at both 10 a.m. an 10 p.m. At noon, the men held a closed session of aquatics until 1:30 p.m.

Begin Now To Prepare Income Tax Returns, Collectors Advise

Although income tax time to most people seems a long way off, Director of Internal Revenue Nathaniel Looker in Columbus today reminded taxpayers that they should be rounding up records in preparation for the March 15 deadline.

John H. Sells of the Marion Internal Revenue office reports that district directors have been authorized by Internal Revenue Commissioner T. Coleman Andrews to serve appropriate notices on persons who have not maintained records required for correctly reporting taxes.

"Is the case of the average taxpayer the keeping of such records is not at all difficult," Looker and Sells pointed out. "Those taxpayers who have not done so should start now getting their cancelled checks, invoices, bills, receipts and other evidence of income and expenses together so they will be prepared to file their income tax forms well before the deadline."

With the help of these simple records of income and expenses, most persons would be able to fill out their tax forms, if they read instructions which will accompany the tax forms when they are distributed.

"However, for those who do have questions they can't answer from the instructions, we will have agents available in this office for personal interviews and to answer telephone inquiries," Sells said.

Although the three agents in the Marion office are glad to help persons at any time with questions and problems pertaining to income tax, Sells pointed out that they will have much more time to be helpful in January and February than they will when the March rush begins.

The Marion office is located in the Citizens Building at 148 W. Center St. The Columbus district is comprised of 28 counties, including Marion County.

Sesqui Event Set Tonight by Pupils At Bucyrus School

Special to The Star

BUCYRUS — Students in the Bucyrus public school system will present a sesquicentennial program tonight at Bucyrus High School as the major event on the third day of this city's week-long observance of Ohio's 150th anniversary of statehood.

The program will consist of a series of tableaux, dramatizations, songs and narrations of historical interest. Senior high school students will present "Bucyrus, Then and Now" in a series of tableaux and pantomime, depicting early settlements, accommodations, public service, information, culture and industry.

Last night's program featured a talk by Dr. E. G. Hesser, director of the Crestline Municipal Museum. He told of the early history of Crawford County. A film, "Freedom's Proving Ground," furnished by the Standard Oil Co. was shown and there was music by brass ensembles from Whetstone School, directed by Mrs. Mary Knowlton.

Dr. Hesser, who has made a comprehensive study of this county's pioneer days, was introduced by Franklin J. Roelle, Bucyrus attorney and county sesquicentennial chairman.

There will be no special program Wednesday night but rural schools will present the evening's entertainment Thursday night at the high school here.

Gulf Dealers, Employes Attend Dinner Meeting

A total of 55 dealers and employes of Gulf Oil products in Marion, Morrow, Union and Delaware Counties attended the annual fall dinner meeting of the Gulf Refining Co. for dealers in the Marion area at Hotel Harding Monday night. Boyden Jann, district manager from Columbus, spoke on oil and a movie was shown.

Tom Kirwin, Gulf sales representative for this area, and John W. Mathews, Gulf distributor for the area, were in charge of the meeting. Next meeting will be held in the spring at Hotel Harding.

7 Drivers Arrested For Traffic Violations

State patrolmen from the Marion post arrested seven motorists for traffic violations in the past 24 hours.

Two persons were fined after their arrests Monday. Priscilla Vawker of Elyria was fined $10 and costs by Mayor Don Healea of Cardington after being charged with passing a school bus stopped to unload passengers. John W. Burkholder, 38, of Frazeysburg was fined $15 and costs in Municipal Court after he was charged with having no mud flaps on his truck.

Other persons arrested were ordered to appear in Municipal Court. They were:

Rachel A. Adcox, Rossford, passing on a yellow line; Barbara J. Newell of 419 S. Main St., passing a school bus stopped to unload passengers; Robert L. Brodine, 26 of Rawson, failure to obey a stop sign, William A. Albert, 23, of Upper Sandusky, excessive speed; Richard S. Cleveland, 28, of Fremont, excessive speed.

2. Sen. Dirksen (R-Ill), chairman of the Republican Senatorial Campaign Committee, predicted that the GOP candidate will win in a special election today in Wisconsin's 9th legislative district—demonstrating, Dirksen said, president Eisenhower's continued popularity.

3. Eisenhower canceled a White House appointment with a New Jersey GOP leader yesterday. The action was interpreted as indicating a presidential hands-off policy in the race in which Republican Paul L. Troast is seeking the New Jersey governorship, although the White House said politics was not involved.

DEATHS and FUNERALS

Charles Abel Williams

Charles Abel Williams, 66, of 922 Merkel Ave. died at 9 a.m. Monday in the Morrow County Hospital at Mt. Gilead. He was ill 18 months.

Born Dec. 24, 1886, in Sweetwater, N. C., he was the son of Brownlow Williams and Kathryn Wemburger Williams. Sept. 12, 1922, in Columbus, he married Lydia E. Hayes. A resident of Marion 17 years, he was a machinist at the Marion Power Shovel Co., and he was a member of Oakland EUB Church.

Surviving are his widow, and his son, Charles A. Williams Jr. of 768 Congress St.

Funeral services will be conducted Thursday at 2 p.m. in the Oakland Church. Rev. H. V. Fuller will officiate. Friends may call at the Boyd Funeral Home on W. Columbia St. after 7:30 tonight until 11 a.m., Thursday, then at the church.

Wable

M., on a tip from two young women.

"You can say that the story is being checked by police in Pittsburgh including my brother Matthew," said Undersheriff Walter Geis.

Three Pennsylvania officers arrived in Albuquerque by plane today to take custody of Wable, charged in the slaying of truck drivers Harry F. Pitts, 39, of Bowling Green, Va., and Lester B. Woodward, 39, of Harrisburg, Pa., last July. Wable has waived extradition.

They declined comment on the case until they had a chance to talk to Wable and get filled in on the background.

Geis said he had obtained a signed statement from Wable which included the name of the mysterious "other man" Wable says he thinks is the murderer. He said details of the statement differed somewhat from those given newsmen by Wable in interviews yesterday, but declined to amplify.

Held Pawn Ticket

When captured, Wable had a pawn ticket for a watch taken from John K. Shepard, 34, of West Alexander, Pa., a third victim of the turnpike shootings, who is recovering from bullet wounds, Geis said. Wable was identified when he pawned the watch.

Geis said in the statement Wable admitted he once had the foreign made gun identified as the death weapon, but claimed he had it in his girl's apartment in Cleveland when he learned police had a warrant for his arrest on car theft charges.

The shootings started a reign of terror on the turnpike. Truckers began traveling in convoys and sleeping under lights.

Wable said he worked in Cleveland at the time, but later went to California. On the way home he picked up Marvin H. Parsons, 20, and J. D. Francis, 17, of Antioch, Calif. They said they didn't know Wable had been accused of murder when they hitched the ride with him.

Identified As Companion

Francis later was identified by a service station operator's son as having been with Wable in a Sunday night robbery of the station. The robbery touched off a wild chase at speeds of over 90 miles an hour over the 31 miles of highway between Albuquerque and Belen.

The chase ended behind a tourist court where the three abandoned their car. Parsons and Francis were quickly captured.

Wable was later spotted on a back road by Carolyn Smith, 23, a nurse, and Midge Harmon, railway bill clerk. They notified police. The girls may collect up to $11,000 in reward money offered by the trucking industry.

Since his capture, Wable has steadily maintained he did not shoot the truckers, and adds:

"But I think I know who did. I'll get him."

RECORD STRONG QUAKE

CLEVELAND (AP)—Seismographs at John Carroll University recorded a strong earthquake at 3:59:50 EST this morning. Rev. Henry Birkenhauer, who is in charge of the school's quake-detecting apparatus, said shocks were felt 1,210 miles from Cleveland in an undetermined direction.

Parked Squad Car Damaged In Auto Mishap

Police had a personal interest in one of the three accidents they reported this morning.

It occurred on Orchard St. at the police department and involved one of the department's own squad cars.

A parked car owned by John C. Lower, of 771 Creston Ave., rolled backwards out of the alley just south of Hotel Harding and struck a police car parked on Orchard St.

The left front door of the police vehicle was damaged slightly and Lower's car was undamaged.

An accident on Mt. Vernon Ave. at 4:13 a.m. today resulted in the arrest of Elmer James Roberts, 30, of Rushsylvania, on charges of leaving the scene of an accident.

Roberts was east-bound when his car struck a car owned by Mrs. M. K. Eller, of 189 S. Vine St., which was parked on the north side of the street, at 580 Mt. Vernon Ave. Although his left front tire blew out, Roberts continued driving.

Police followed the rim marks of the wheel and the trail of his leaking radiator out Mt. Vernon Ave., south on King Ave., over to Vernon Heights Blvd., north on that street, and east again on Mt. Vernon Ave. They finally found him on Route 529 where he stopped when his motor burned out.

Roberts was held for appearance in Municipal Court today.

The Eller car was extensively damaged in the left front end and was removed by wrecker.

Minor damage to both cars resulted in a collision on S. Prospect St. at 5:45 p.m. Monday. Involved were cars driven by Clayton Morrison, 57, of 140 N. Vine St., and Donald Gorrell, 29, of LaRue.

No accidents were reported by the Marion Post of the state highway patrol.

State Farmer, highest farm award in the state.

This year, as one of the Farmers of America, he is eligible for the title of Regional Star Farmer. Four boys will be given that award, out of whom the Star American Farmer of the country will be chosen.

Richard is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ferdinand Lawrence of near Marion. He was graduated from Claridon school in 1951. Following graduation, he attended Ohio State University two years, where he studied animal science.

The farm on which he lives is 120 acres in size, devoted mainly to the raising of 56 head of dairy cattle. The youth began his herd when he was but nine years old.

Youths picked for the American Farmer honor, are usually chosen from those who are at least one year out of high school and have shown a definite sign of remaining on the farms.

Window Display Shows Activities of Air Force

A display designed to induce young Marionites to apply for flight training in the U.S. Air Force was placed in a Frank Bros. store window yesterday.

Placed in the window by the Aviation Cadet Selection Team 412 of Lockbourne AFB at Columbus, the display will remain for a week.

Featured are models of Air Force planes including the XB-35 four engine flying wing, the XB-51 three jet engine bomber, the YC-979 four engine doubledeck transport, a helicopter, jet pursuit plane and a cut-away model of a four engine bomber.

New Floor Care Ends Waxing

One of the most difficult jobs of housekeeping is to keep linoleum and asphalt tile floors waxed and gleaming. Now, thanks to Glaxo, it is no longer necessary to wax and scrub. All you do is apply Glaxo with a brush about twice a year. It maintains a high lustre, non slip coating that seals out dirt. Glaxo dries in one hour and is water clear. It's cheaper than wax in the long run, besides saving a terrific amount of work, plus truly a beautiful floor. Glaxo is available at Uhler's.

Aid Proposal Declared Too Binding by U.S.

Interparliamentary Conference Delegates Prepared To Object

WASHINGTON (AP)—U. S Delegates to the Interparliamentary Union mustered strength today against a proposal they said would morally commit the United States to giving financial aid to every nation in the world.

They were ready, if necessary, to engage in a floor fight to modify language of a resolution up for a vote by the union.

But Rep Keating (R-NY), one of the U. S. delegates to the 32-nation conference being held in the House chamber, said he hoped the language would be toned down before the resolution came to a vote

As tentatively drafted by a conference committee, the resolution says all nations have "a moral duty to assist those who are less developed"

The U S delegates, headed by Sen Ferguson (R-Mich), take the position that since the United States is recognized as the most highly developed nation in the world, the resolution would morally bind it to help any other nation needing development

It could have only moral effect, since resolutions adopted by the conference are merely guides for action by the legislatures of the member nations.

The estimated 350 delegates are members or former members of their national legislative bodies.

In debate yesterday, U. S. Delegates said they believed this country's taxpayers have about decided it's time to cut down on foreign assistance programs. While the programs of giving economic and financial aid to underdeveloped areas should be continued in the interest of world peace, the U S. delegates argued, the financial burden should be more evenly distributed.

Queen, Court To Reign At Ashley Homecoming

Special to The Star

ASHLEY—Miss Barbara Conley will reign as homecoming queen of Elm Valley High School when the school meets Big Walnut here Friday night.

Miss Conley was elected last week from homecoming queen candidates. Attendants will be: Ruth Clark, senior; Carolyn Duerr, junior; Mary Van Meter, sophomore, and Marsha Vanausdle, freshman.

A dance at the high school will follow the game.

In 1780, Dartmouth college asked, and received, permission from the state legislature to raise money by lottery. About this time, a petition by the slaves for freedom was circulated in New Hampshire.

Parade, Dedication Will End Bellevue Centennial Events

BELLEVUE—The week-long centennial celebration here will conclude Saturday with a two-hour parade headed by Gov Frank Lausche, dedication of the city's million dollar Main Street and a street dance on the town's square Saturday night.

More than 100 entries, including over 15 bands, will take part in the centennial parade which will begin at 2 p.m. Saturday. Official dedication of Main Street is scheduled at the square with Gov. Lausche and Bellevue's Mayor Homer Crecelius being the chief participants

A program of religious choral music opened the centennial observance Sunday. Merchants and industrial firms are exhibiting colorful displays at the high school today through Thursday and the Bellevue Auto Dealers Association is sponsoring an auto show. A style show is scheduled for tonight and Wednesday night.

Bellevue's centennial queen will be crowned and a selection of winners in the beard-growing contest will be made Thursday night.

Coronation of the homecoming queen will take place at 7:45 p.m. Friday, just before the football contest between Bellevue and Shelby High Schools. Both Shelby and Bellevue bands will appear for a half-time exhibition.

The Insurance Company of North America, chartered in 1794, was the first general insurance company to sell life insurance in America. It issued only six policies in five years.

AAA Presents Facts About the

OHIO ADEQUATE HIGHWAYS AMENDMENT

To Provide

BETTER HIGHWAYS SOONER FOR NO EXTRA TAXES

Our highway system deteriorates from age, weather, war conditions, increase in weight, number and speed of vehicles more rapidly than it can possibly be rebuilt under the usual "pay-as-you-go" plan. Thousands of miles need replacement immediately with added capacity for more vehicles to travel with greater safety, and hundreds of new bridges to replace old, weak and narrow ones.

Through the amendment, they will come 10 years sooner — you ride while you pay.

Not one penny will be added to real estate or any other tax as auto, truck and gasoline taxes will cover the whole cost. Better highways will mean more mileage from gasolines and tires, less upkeep on your car and a reduction in loss of lives through accidents.

These Days

By George Sokolsky

Rudolf Bing, who manages the Metropolitan Opera very well, objects to Helen Traubel singing in night clubs and at the Metropolitan. For him, it is one or the other. Whereupon Miss Traubel waxed lyrical about American folk music, which she just loves to sing in the night clubs, which pay her in the vicinity of $5,000 a week, more or less, a sum that the Metropolitan cannot meet.

SOKOLSKY

The press made quite a thing of the story and generally gave Bing a Bronx cheer, which is a dastardly unmusical note.

However, Wagner will be sung without Traubel as it was before Traubel ever put foot on board. The classics have a way of finding artists who are willing to sing them and play them at whatever the box office will bear, and to accept the disciplines which they require.

THERE WAS a great Metropolitan artist who thought he could resist discipline, so he got himself a job which required an enormous amount of singing.

Soon the finely attuned ears of musicians noted a hoarseness that should not have been there. Then came the slight—oh so slight—off pitch which proved that the vocal chords were weary.

That great artist is not doing too much singing these days.

It would be difficult to imagine Caruso singing even a Neapolitan ditty in a 52nd Street bistro, the smoke not only in his eyes but inhaled into his throat and lungs.

Maybe it is not important that Caruso should ever have existed; yet his glorious tenor is a delight even today on the old-fashioned recordings. With Chaliapin, it might have been different; his bass voice seemed to have been able to stand anything.

I used to watch Mario Lanza move the piano up at Tanglewood during the summer that he was there trying to get an educated voice. I did not then know that he would ever be a lusty tenor, cleaning up on Hollywood salaries.

IF ANYONE wants to test the difference between Caruso and Lanza, listen to the recordings of each, singing the same music. Bing never asked Lanza to sing at the Metropolitan.

To sing Wagner, such perfection of voice as few posses is required. Perhaps I might make this comparison: listen to Isaac Stern or Zino Francescatti play the fiddle and then ask an amateur, who has been practicing for ten years, to play on his own fiddle. Instrument and soul betray the amateur.

Stern, in particular, makes a violin live. One looks at the heavy-set, almost square figure holding his instrument with his chin, and wonders what he can do.

Such artists as Kreisler, Heifetz, Elman, Jan Kubelik of another vintage can make music speak and thrill.

NOBODY WOULD want to listen to such an artist play in a saloon, with the fat man wooing inebriately a much too young gal who giggles. Murder would be defensible under such circumstances.

There is such a thing as artistic self-respect, which is different from artistic snobbery. There is music for the moment and music that elevates the mind and spirit of man.

Jerome Kern and George Gershwin have written some music that must live because of its great beauty, but much of what we call popular music is written to amuse, to entertain, to create fun.

EVERYTHING has its own place and its own time. It is possible to enjoy Bach and bebop, but not at the same time, just as it is fun dancing to Irving Berlin's "Alexander's Ragtime Band" and it is elevating to listen to Brahms's Requiem, but not by the same orchestra.

The point is that what Rudolf Bing is fighting for is a perfect performance at the Metropolitan by artists who discipline themselves for the ardent and even arduous artistry that operatic music requires.

UNFORTUNATELY, the Metropolitan no longer has the money to pay its singers what they could when the Vanderbilts and Otto Kahn footed the deficits.

The opera and other cultural groups cannot pay for themselves and maintain high standards.

Therefore, they are in peril and their artists will wander where the green is more plentiful and luscious.

If it is money that counts, the night clubs will win in this contest.

Marksman's Wife Gives Him a Lesson

HADDAM, Conn. (UP)—Gaston Schreiber, who has medals attesting his prowess as a rifle marksman, prefers not to talk about it in the presence of Mrs. Schreiber.

Schreiber operates a large chicken farm, with occasional losses to foraging foxes.

One evening Schreiber saw a gray fox slinking through the edge of a woods near one of his chicken houses. He got his rifle and blazed away several times. The fox, unharmed, disappeared into the woods.

Next night, the fox came back. Mrs. Schreiber spotted it, picked up a stone and without even a warmup, delivered a fast pitch. It conked the fox between the eyes, knocking it cold. Then she finished off the animal with a club.

Discussion Planned On Foreign Policy

"Making Foreign Policy" will be the topic when members of the Marion League of Women Voters meet in morning and evening units Wednesday.

Meeting from 9:30 to 11:30 a.m. in the West Town Branch of the National City Bank, the morning unit will have as unit leader Mrs. William Fretz and as discussion leader Mrs. Francis Wanda.

The evening unit will meet from 8 to 10 p.m. in the new YMCA. Unit leader will be Mrs. William R. Diem and discussion leader will be Mrs. Walter Sinden.

Chairman of the resource committee which compiled the information about the topic was Mrs. Durward Myers. She was assisted by Mrs. J. M. Paulson, Mrs. Karl Schell and Mrs. Wanda.

The meetings, which are open to the public, will attempt to answer such questions as what foreign policy is, how it is made, who determines it, and how United Nations commitments affect foreign policy.

By Victor Riesel

The soft strains of the tender Mass of Angels have been sung for little Bobby Greenlease, but the story of the kidnapped child doesn't end there. His murderers were caught on a tip from a taxi driver who was alerted by a union circular and for the first time a vast new network of millions of working people who drive trucks and cabs, sell milk, deliver mail, handle food and know every face on every street in every town of the land, can now be a protecting shield for every school kid.

RIESEL

With the FBI unable to move officially on the abduction for seven days, and with local police handicapped by the nerve corroding fear of grieving parents, two unions acted swiftly.

Bill Doherty's AFL Letter Carriers Union national headquarters alerted all its members to join the manhunt on their daily rounds.

AT THE SAME time AFL Teamsters Union president Dave Beck, airmailed all his union locals and roundels in 13 states a folder, 20 by 30 inches, containing a picture of the boy and description of the red-haired woman who snatched him from school.

"Study the boy's photo carefully," Beck directed. "Fix in your mind the accompanying description of him and his abductor. Look for them."

The teamsters' chief told the milk wagon drivers to watch for "any suspicious increase" in milk deliveries. Truck drivers and cabbies were told to watch highways and fares.

One of the circulars got to Teamsters' Local 405, the AFL Taxi Union in St. Louis and was seen by a hackie working for the Ace Cab Co.

THE HACKIE afterwards told the local president, Pete Saffo, that the circular had put him on guard. When he saw Carl Hall blowing big money in a hotel and carrying a gun too, the driver telephoned the police.

Fearing retaliation, the FBI immediately put the cabbie under protective custody and warned the union not to reveal his identity. The 39-year old driver, who has pushed a hack for five years, has two youngsters himself.

Meanwhile, Dave Beck has sent him a personal check for $500, and the St. Louis Joint Council of Teamsters, headed by Hall Gibbons, now in New York helping fight the waterfront mobs, has given the hackie another $500 reward.

Union chiefs everywhere, in all trades, now will swing into action, minutes after any such grim event, should it happen again. . .

THIS IS the behind the scenes story of the appointment of Jim Mitchell as secretary of labor:

The appointment of the genial New York department store executive came as a complete surprise to both cabinet members and those high on President Eisenhower's personal staff.

Exactly two hours before the appointment last Thursday, at least three cabinet members and several of Ike's personal administrative assistants were convinced that Harold Stassen would be named that afternoon.

Only a few of us knew that Stassen had been rejected for these reasons: President Eisenhower wanted to appoint a decidedly pro-labor man, yet one who was not out of union ranks.

The President wanted to name such a man before the CIO convention opened on Nov. 16 in Cleveland so that the new labor secretary might be invited. Even if he were not asked to speak, at least he would not be blasted.

THUS IF THE CIO thought favorably of the new labor secretary, it would neutralize the AFL attacks of last month in St. Louis.

If such a man could be found, Ike could send him to the CIO convention with the presidential message, as he sent Dick Nixon to the AFL.

The CIO, as did the AFL, has invited the President to the convention as a matter of form.

Furthermore, Ike was making his own decisions on the matter, consulting here and there only the group closest to Sherman Adams, assistant president.

Sen. Taft, who had blocked Jim Mitchell's appointment several times, was, of course, gone. Vice-President Dick Nixon, who is the conservative channel to Ike, was flying to the Orient.

THE PRESIDENT had just about run out of candidates. Stassen had to be used on the foreign front, and besides the AFL and CIO were opposed to him.

The only other serious runner-up for the job — Congressman Sam McConnell of Pennsylvania — is needed in the House, where the Republican margin is slim. Senator Ives of New York is needed in the Senate.

New York's Governor Dewey and Attorney General Brownell, both of whom think highly of Mitchell (who really is a New Yorker, despite his Jersey residence), then pressed for Mitchell's appointment. Between noon time Thursday and 2 p.m., Ike thought about it and cleared it with New Jersey's Sen. Smith, head of the Senate Labor Committee. Then the President announced the appointment.

THE CIO LIKES it. The AFL will be more reserved. The appointment of Mitchell, one of the most detailedly informed labor men in the country, will launch a bitter feud between the bloc formerly led by Taft (who were neither consulted nor informed by Ike on this one) and the followers House—unless it is followed by a series of conservative appointments in other federal labor posts.

Unless this public notice heads him off, Harry Bridges, the pro-Commie West Coast Longshoremen's Union leader, will fly East this week in an attempt to exploit the racket - ridden East Coast Dockers Union.

Arizona Boy Scout Passes Key Test, Saves His Own Life

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP) — A Tucson Boy Scout who flunked a simple tracking test today told how he passed the bigest test of all—saving his own life.

Lost in the dangerous Santa Catalina Mountains near here since Sunday, 11-year-old Augustine Acuna fell back lon the lore he had learned in his scout manual. He walked out of the mountains by himself yesterday afternoon while 100 searchers were looking for him.

He had gone into the mountains with his patrol to take a fairly easy tracking test. But he failed while coming down the trail alone. "I checked the location of the sun with my watch as I had been taught to do," he said, "then I knew my directions were right."

He traveled almost 15 miles, all of it on the beam.

School Safety Patrol Program Expanded in Marion

A FULL-FLEDGED SCHOOL SAFETY PATROL program was placed in operation in Marion city schools for the first time this year. Shown here are patrol captains, school principals and other officials.

LOWER: Function of the School Safety Patrol is illustrated here. Patrol member Keith Kirtz, 11, of 588 Girard Ave. is shown directing first and second graders at Pearl St. School at the end of a school day.

AFTER EVERLY was selected for this task by Chief Coon, a meeting of all teachers in the city schools was held and the patrol program explained.

Most patrol members in the grade schools are sixth graders but a few fourth and fifth graders are included also. Reason for this, Everly explained, is to have a nucleus from which to start the program next year. "The hope is to have patrolmen on the streets the first day of school next year," he said.

In addition to providing protection from injury for their fellow students, patrol members are rewarded in somewhat more material ways.

Through the cooperation of the Palace and Ohio Theaters, patrol members from two schools will be admitted to movies free each Saturday afternoon. Their admission tickets will be their patrol identification cards.

DURING THE FOOTBALL season, units from each school will be admitted to the Harding and St. Mary home football games. Added to this, arrangements have been completed with the Coliseum Board of Governors to admit patrol members to Marion Barons hockey games free of charge.

Still another attraction is the hope of police and school officials to conduct a contest to select the ablest boy and girl patrolmen in the city for an all-expenses-paid trip to Washington or New York City at the end of the school year. Realization of this plan depends on cooperation of merchants to sponsor the trip, Everly said.

As an aid to patrol members in directing traffic, the Marion Bottling Plant of the Coca-Cola Co. has agreed to furnish street signs warning motorists they are approaching a school zone and to drive slow. These signs—replica's of a policeman—will be turned over to the patrol unit at each school to see that they are placed in the street in the morning and put away each afternoon.

AS AN AID TO instruction of patrol members, Everly makes use of a motion picture entitled "Jimmy of the Safety Patrol" which illustrates proper performance of duty and advantages of belonging to the patrol. This movie is provided by the Midtown Chevrolet Co., Everly said.

Each patrol member with a good record of patrol work gets a miniature badge at the end of the year, along with a certificate of merit.

Former AEC Head Says Public Needs H-Bomb Scaring

CLEVELAND (AP)—"People need to be scared" about the hydrogen and atom bombs, and showing motion pictures of their potential effects might be a good way to scare them, suggests a former chairman of the Atomic Energy Commission.

Gordon Dean, who concluded a term as AEC chairman in June and joined an investment banking firm, told an interviewing reporter prior to an address today before the Cleveland Bar Assn.:

"Russia has been deterred by our stockpiles of bombs, but Russia also has the ability to hurt us very badly today and in two years will be able to cripple us."

Dean praised President Eisenhower's attempts to give the public some information about the bombs, but declared that from other sources "there has been a lot of fuzzy stuff lately."

MAYOR'S SALARY HIKED

MT. GILEAD — Mt. Gilead Village council voted a raise in the mayor's salary from $600 to $3,000 at their regular session. Change in salary schedule was made due to a change in state laws which provides that costs paid in mayor's courts go to the village general fund and are not received by the mayor as under present laws.

The New Jersey Turnpike required 30 million gallons of asphalt of which 65 per cent was provided by oil companies doing business in New Jersey.

350 Pupils Take Part

Each Grade, Junior High Building Now Has a Unit

"I pledge myself to strive to prevent accidents . . ."

This phrase from an oath taken by some 350 school pupils keynotes Marion's newly organized school safety patrol program.

Sponsored by the Marion Auto Club of the American Automobile Association, the program has been organized in each of the city's 11 grade and three junior high schools in the month since the schools opened.

EFFORTS OF MARION police coupled with cooperation of auto club officials, school officials, teachers, businessmen, and parents of patrol members made possible the organization of a full-fledged patrol program this year for the first time.

While there have been safety programs in the schools in previous years, they concentrated mostly on maintaining order on the playgrounds. In the past, there have been only a few patrolmen stationed at street corners to direct other children crossing the street.

THIS YEAR THERE are patrolmen on each corner near the schools and at other corners distant from the school where children must cross heavily traveled streets going to or coming from classes. Each of the patrolmen, including both boys and girls, are provided with equipment by the Auto Club. This equipment includes white Sam Browne belts, badges, white raincoats, and warning flags used to direct pedestrian traffic.

Also for the first time in patrol history, there are captains assisted by lieutenants in charge at each school. Captains were selected on the basis of leadership ability, scholarship, reliability, aptitude and popularity with fellow students.

For that matter all the 25 or so patrolmen at each school were picked on a similar set of standards, including also punctuality, alertness, good health, and ability to carry out instructions.

IN CHARGE OF the entire program is Marion policeman D. L. Everly who acts as the liaison officer between the schools and the Auto Club and the police department. It is his job to see that the various units at each school function properly and that patrolmembers perform their duties as instructed.

Patrol members are instructed to make no attempt to control vehicular traffic other than bicycles. Their job is to hold the children on the curb until there is a break in traffic and it is safe for them to cross the street.

To do this they use a flag on the end of a long pole with which they stop the children at the curb. When it is safe they swing the flag into the street and allow the children to cross.

EVERLY SAID that while the patrolmen may not stop traffic to permit children to cross the street, any motorist approaching a flag held in the street should stop and obey the directions of the student patrolmen.

Decision to organize a full-fledged patrol program this year came last year after several children were struck by automobiles and injured while crossing the streets on their way to or from school. For a time this spring, PTA mothers took a hand themselves and patrolled corners near the schools.

Police Chief Coon, Everly, and M. E. Baldwin of the Auto Club discussed the possibility of an enlarged school safety patrol. This in turn was followed by a visit to Mansfield to observe operation of such a program there. Following this it was decided to place a policeman in charge of the program and to take him off all other duties in the police department during the school year.

Fear of Deflation Wanes

Economic Forecasters Are Optimistic

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP)— Sailing somewhat gloomy seas of economic forecasting of late, businessmen scan the horizon for the first sight of new hope—and think today they see some signs

Business sentiment was a little more cheerful this Columbus Day than it was before Labor Day, although the majority of business and financial leaders still think they must sail through a slight trough of deflation before industry hits another cresting wave

The signs they see are both specific and general

First of the third quarter earnings reports to come from corporations are mostly on the cheerful side, showing profits are still topping a year ago although many predict that the fourth quarter will show a dip Nevertheless, the bright showing of the first half of the year means that for many companies 1953's total earnings are going to be at or near the top

For one industry there is a particular sign Steel scrap prices often foreshadow what the steel industry is expecting They have been sliding for a long time, indicating to many that the steel industry was heading for a slowdown

But last week steel scrap prices rose It was only one isolated instance, but it strengthens belief among many steelmen that orders will be high enough to keep steel mills busy till the end of the year at least

Easier credit, lower interest rates and generally plentiful money supply also are heartening businessmen—if only as a sign that the administration is going to strive to cushion the impact of deflation

Tax cut prospects look a little brighter today too, as a number of congressmen indicate they'll fight for them. Lower taxes for individuals mean more customers with money to spend, lower taxes for business means a cushion to drop in profits

More general signs are also being spied. The rise in the inventory level, which frightened some economists, seems to have slowed down Aparently retail inventories are in line with prospects for Christmas trade And manufacturers seem to be trimming back now, rather than waiting to be caught in any inventory squeeze after Christmas

Businessmen have plenty of reassurance from Washington — as might be expected The President's economic advisers report the economy is now hitting a strong steady pace It isn't stepping off as smartly as it did last spring however But the total output of goods and services during the summer months ran only slightly below the record dollar value rung up in the spring months

Almost all of the drop, the advisers report, coincided with a dip of 1½ billion dollars in government spending (figured at an annual rate) Businessmen see signs now, however, that most of the cutback in government spending may already have been taken, that from now on the pressure for defense against the H - bomb may make further cutbacks hard

Pledge to Italy Brings Trieste Crisis

West's Political Expediency Backfires

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON (AP)—Trieste is the present European hot spot. Yugoslavia's President Tito threatens the Italians if they move in troops. Tito may be bluffing. The crisis may be solved short of shooting. Time will show.

The crisis began last Thursday when the United States and Britain said they'd pull their troops out of Trieste, let the Italians take over part of it.

Tieste is both a city and an area, about 320 square miles. The city is a port on the Adriatic Sea and so a prize. The population, mainly in the city itself, is around 350,000. About 85,000 are Slavs, the rest Italians.

An ancient city, long tied in with Italy, Trieste in the 14th century placed itself under Austrian protection and remained part of the Austrian dominion, with the exception of a few years in the Napoleonic period, until 1918.

When Austria was defeated in World War I, the Western Allies awarded Trieste to Italy, which held it until World War II. Then Italy in turn, this time a German ally, was defeated.

Tito, who had fought the Axis and whose own Yugoslavia was created in part out of the old Austrian Empire which had held Trieste so long, claimed it for Yugoslavia.

Yugoslavia was Communist and at that time, the end of World War II, a Russian satellite. But the Western Powers wanted to keep Italy friendly to them and in their camp.

A Trieste compromise was worked out in the Italian Peace Treaty of 1947: Yugoslav troops would occupy part of Trieste, called Zone B; the British and American allies would occupy the rest of the territory, called Zone A, including the city.

This was to be a temporary arrangement until the United Nations picked a neutral governor for Trieste, which would then become a free territory under the U. N.

But Russia and the Western nations could never agree on a governor.

The result: American and British troops continued to occupy Zone A; Yugoslavs held Zone B. This situation dragged along until 1948. By then relations with Russia had become an open, although cold, war.

Yugoslavia at that time was still under Russia's wing. But the Italian elections were coming up. There was danger the Italian Communists might win and take over.

To help defeat them by strengthening the hand of the Italian anti-Communists, this country and Britain declared all Trieste should be given to Italy, since there had been no agreement on a governor for a free Trieste.

It didn't matter to the West that this proposal infuriated Tito, still a Russian satellite. But when Tito broke with Stalin it was to the interest of the West to pacify him.

The West then suggested Italy was hardly in a good bargaining position: Yugoslavia occupied Zone B, Italy still occupied nothing.

The United States and Britain still had troops, about 7,000 in Zone A. To strengthen Italy in dealing with Tito, the two allies let Italy have a hand in running Zone A.

In the meantime, Tito began to line up with the West, getting military help, mostly from the United States, which in three years has given him more than 900 million dollars in military and economic supplies.

Still no progress on an agreement between Italy and Yugoslavia on Trieste. The West is anxious for the Italians to get into the European Defense Community, the single European army plan.

To break the deadlock over Trieste and perhaps as an inducement to the Italians to get going on the EDC, last Thursday the United States and Britain said they would withdraw their troops from Zone A shortly and let Italy take over.

That meant Italian troops in Zone A would face Yugoslav troops in Zone B. Then Tito began to threaten. Is he bluffing? Maybe. While shaking his fist, he has now suggested a quick Italian-Yugoslav-American-British conference on Trieste.

After Stalin's death Tito resumed diplomatic relations with Moscow. Last night Russia denounced the United States and Britain for their decision on Trieste. This couldn't make Tito mad, might pull him toward the Russians a bit.

But last night the United States and Britain were standing firm.

School Vocational Pupils Candidates For State Election

Four Marion Harding High School Vocational Industrial Club members will be presented as candidates for offices of the Vocational Industrial Club of Ohio at the annual convention Saturday in Columbus. They are: Tom Field for vice president; Earl McWherter, secretary; and Mike Geer and Dick Fox, treasurer.

Some 300 members of the industrial clubs are expected to attend the third annual session at Ohio State University in Columbus. Representatives from 37 cities in Ohio are slated to attend.

The Vocational Industrial Club is an organization for high school students who are enrolled in trade and industrial education progams in order to prepare for entrance into a skilled trade.

Plans for state-wide contest activities will be announced at the meeting and colored slides will be shown of VIC activities during the past year.

Emil Lisak, director of the Harding High chapter, is a member of the advisory committee for the organization.

Attending from Marion with the club members will be the vocational teachers and club sponsors, Charles Nichols, Richard Slack and Arthur Moody.

Newly Formed Labor Group Names Officers

The newly formed United Organized Labor Group met Friday night in the Labor Union Hall. Officers of the organization elected were: R. G. Bigelow, president; Herman Reeh, treasurer; Lyle Prouty, publicity chairman and Earl J. Camp, secretary.

Serving on the activities committee, together with the officers, is Dale Flanagan, and the by-laws committee is made up of Roy Russell, James Brumfield and Arthur McCrery. The by-laws committee will present a tentative draft of by-laws at the next meeting Nov. 3, in the Labor Union Hall.

The organization is made up of delegates and alternates from labor lodges in this area with aims to assist in or institute any patriotic, civic and community activity which will not conflict with other activities of civic, fraternal or other organizations.

TWO DRIVERS ARRESTED

Two arrests on charges of failure to have trailer chains were reported by city police today. Arrested were Forrest Wayne Smith, of near Cardington, and David Poe Hartle, 40, of Kenton. Both men posted $35 bonds for appearance in Municipal Court today.

Court Again Denies Hearing to Ohioan

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Supreme Court for the second time has denied a hearing to Frank Cammarata who fought extradition from Ohio to Michigan where he was charged with violating parole.

Cammarata was sentenced in Detroit in 1930 to 15-30 years for bank robbery. He was turned over to federal authorities for deportation to his native Italy in 1936 by the state of Michigan. He was deported but reentered the United States illegally three years later.

Arrested in Youngstown, Ohio, in 1946, Cammarata was sought by Michigan authorities to finish out his prison sentence. Ohio courts three times refused to block his extradition and the Supreme Court refused him a hearing June 15.

Michigan police seized Cammarata July 2, in Warren, Ohio, after his attorney had filed a petition asking the Supreme Court to reconsider its denial. The Michigan police have returned Cammarata to the state prison at Jackson.

Concrete Pouring Nearly Completed

Work at New Hospital Moves Rapidly

Construction of Marion's new $2,850,000 General Hospital is progressing rapidly with 95 per cent of all concrete pourings and 60 per cent of all exterior brickwork completed.

Paul Ryan, construction superintendent for the Knowlton Construction Co., general contractor, said work is right on the schedule set up by the construction company and in some instances may be ahead of the construction schedule set up by the architect.

EXTERIOR BRICKS have been laid up to the third floor level and the top concrete slab of the elevator penthouse is to be poured this week. Only other concrete pourings remaining are for the smoke stack for the boiler house.

Roofing of the public health wing has started and will be completed in a short time. Ryan said. With the exterior of the building nearing completion, work will now be concentrated on the interior of the building. Crews will begin installing door frames in about a week after which installation of interior walls and partitions will begin.

CONCERNING PAYMENTS made for various parts of the hospital, Assistant City Auditor Floyd Schaffner reported that $452,700 of the total $1,323,000 contract with Knowlton Construction Co. had been paid by the first of last month. All but about $32,000 has been paid to Architect Dan A. Carmichael Jr. on his $132,000 fee.

Amounts paid to sub-contractors as of Sept. 1 and the amount of their original contract was as follows: E. W. File and Sons, plumbing and heating, paid $149,161 out of $600,006; Cochran Electrical Co., electrical wiring, $32,136 out of $217,322; John Van Range Co., kitchen equipment, $1,186 out of $61,240; Tiffin Excavating Co., access roads, paid $33,458 out of $39,589; Tozzer and Associates, designing access roads, paid $1,822 out of $2,699; Plumley Trucking and Excavating Co., storm and sanitary sewers, paid $12,478 outof $24,542; Floyd G. Browne and Associates, paid a fee of $4,511 for inspecting and overseeing sewers installations, and another $1,397 was paid out through August for miscellaneous expenses.

ALL THIS ADDS up to total payments on the hospital up to Sept. 1 of some $790,550, Schaffner said.

Contracts on which no payments have yet been made are with the Troy Laundry Co. for supplying some $25,290 worth of laundry equipment and the Westinghouse Electric Co., $65,660 for elevators.

Construction of the hospital is scheduled for completion late next summer.

Man Possessed Illegal Knife, Patrolmen Charge

Archie H. Lane, 45, of 245 Jefferson St., now serving a five-day jail term after he pleaded guilty to charges of driving while under the influence of intoxicating liquors, was charged Monday by state patrolmen with possession of a switchblade knife.

Lane was arrested by patrolmen early Saturday morning. They said he was in possession of the illegal weapon at the time of arrest. Under a new section of the revised Ohio general code, possession of sale of such knives is illegal.

In Municipal Court Monday, Lane pleaded not guilty. In a hearing today, he was found guilty and fined $100 and costs.

Nov. 10 Set as Date For Senior Tour of Factories, Offices

Nov. 10 was chosen Monday as the date of the annual Business and Industries Education Day for seniors in Harding High and St. Mary's Schools.

At a meeting of the Industry Leaders Conference it was decided to conduct the tour for seniors of the city high schools next month. Seniors in county schools studying commercial subjects will have their tour after that.

About 380 seniors will participate in the tour. Those in charge of the program have made tentative arrangements to have lunch served at the new YMCA.

A special scheduling committee will be formed within the next week. It will contact various industries and business places in the city to get approval to take the pupils through the plants and offices.

Final schedules and other details will be made at the next meeting of the conference Nov. 26.

CHURCH MEETING SET

Women of St. Paul's will meet tonight at the Parish House of St. Paul's Episcopal Church for a pot luck supper at 6:30. Blue Boxes for the ingathering Nov. 1 will be received as well as items for a rummage sale set for Oct. 23.

Around Council's Table

Marion City Council last night passed ten routine pieces of legislation, received a request for payment of a damage claim, heard complaints on various matters and discussed a number of other matters of city government.

Pumping Station Site

Purchase of one of two possible sites for construction of a pumping station for the proposed Jefferson St. sewer installation came in for considerable discussion by the councilmen.

At its last meeting, Council discussed the purchase of all or a portion of a lot located on the west side of Jefferson St. and owned by Mrs. Fannie V. Ours, mother of Marion County Engineer Reed Ours A portion of the lot 35 feet by 50 feet was offered to Council for $500. Council decided to offer $250 for the entire lot, which measured 50 feet wide by some 100 ft. deep, and if this was not acceptable start condemnation proceedings for a more desirable lot at the corner of Jefferson and E. Fairground Sts. This lot is included in an estate left by Reed Ours' father, which has not yet been administered, according to City Solicitor George A. Piacentino.

At last night's meeting, Piacentino said Ours offered to sell 40 feet of the Jefferson St. lot or, sell the entire lot for $316, or if Council insisted sell the entire lot for $250, rather than go through condemnation procedure. Ours said he felt the $316 was a fair price for the lot, Piacentino said.

However, Councilman Robert G Haldeman, at-large, and City Engineer Tom Cathers said that since the last meeting it has been decided the corner lot is more desirable. Several attempts to frame a motion for obtaining this corner lot were made and were summarized into one motion by Louis Conkle, Fourth Ward. He moved that the city solicitor examine the title to the lot at the southwest corner of Jefferson and E Fairground Sts. to determine if the property may be purchased by the city without court action. If so, he further moved that the city solicitor contact Reed Ours and obtain an asking price for this property, then report this price to Council at its next meeting for further action.

However, if this property may not be purchased from the Ours family on a voluntary basis on their part the motion directed the city solicitor to bring in an ordinance at its next meeting to authorize him to start condemnation proceedings. The motion passed unanimously

House Trailer Measure

An ordinance regulating the location of house trailers inside the city limits passed with only one dissenting vote. The ordinance rules that any person, firm, or association wishing to locate not more than two house trailers on a city lot must apply for permission to do so from the City Planning Commission.

It further rules that there shall be 1,250 square feet of space for each trailer, that it shall be no less than 10 feet from the front property line and 10 feet from the nearest structure, must have modern sanitation facilities where water supply and sewage connections are available, and no garbage or refuse shall be permitted to accumulate around the trailer.

Penalty for violation of any section of the ordinance is not less than $5 nor more than $500.

City Solicitor George A. Piacentino said the ordinance would not affect presently established house trailers, but only new installations. Councilman Harold Smith, First Ward, asked why it was necessary for the Planning Commission to rule on the location of house trailers. Piacentino said this made a central agency responsible for enforcement of the law. He said this is a protective rather than a prohibitive ordinance and as such permits anyone to locate a house trailer anywhere in the city as long as the conditions of the ordinance are met.

Smith said he did not fully understand the conditions of the ordinance and subsequently voted against its passage. His was the only dissenting vote.

Complaints Heard

In answer to a complaint reported to Council by Councilman Smith, Safety - Service Director Ralph Forrest said that a section of Gurley Ave. from S Main to S. State Sts. was designated one-way for eastbound traffic is an attempt to protect school children walking along the narrow street to or from classes at Pearl Street or Harding High School. Smith said he had received several calls from parents of Harding High School students who felt they should be allowed to drive both directions on the street.

Smith also reported that he had been called by a number of residents in the vicinity of Reed Ave. who have asked that a traffic light at the corner of E Center St. and Reed Ave. be discontinued. He said they told him they felt it no longer necessary since Forest Lawn School was closed. Councilman Harold Fralich, Sixth Ward, said it definitely is still needed to accomodate children living north of E. Center St. going to or from George Washington School.

Ordinances Repealed

An ordinance terminating and repealing previous ordinances and resolutions calling for special improvements of five city streets was unanimously approved.

Mayor Harold F. Robinson said the repealing ordinance was brought before council on the basis of petitions signed by residents on all except one of the streets calling for abandonment of the projects. The improvements affected are Gurley Ave. curb and gutters, Homer St. sidewalk, and Herman St., Congress St., and Smith St. curbs and gutters.

Only Smith St. residents indicated intention to continue with the improvements on their street, Mayor Robinson said.

Piacentino pointed out that some of the original resolutions and ordinances for the improvements were passed as long as ten years ago with no further action taken. Because of this, he said, original estimates of the cost of the improvements are no longer valid.

He pointed out that residents of any of these streets who wish the improvements may again present petitions and new ordinances or resolutions for the improvements will be submitted to Council.

A companion ordinance calling for transferring funds appropriated for the city's share of the cost of these improvements from the Special Improvements Fund to the General Fund was passed unanimously. Total of the funds transferred was $1,526.76.

Claim Payments

A claim of the Northern Assurance Co. Ltd. for damage to a tractor owned by a Frank Bailey arising from an accident involving a city-owned truck was approved for payment. Bailey's claim was originally for some $179 but was settled for $89. a claim made by James Steele of 135 N. Greenwood St. for $22 80 for repair of his TV antenna lead-in wire damaged when caught on the body of a city garbage truck, was paid.

Another claim for payment of $12 to as automobile owned by Mrs. Thomas L. Hurley of 303 Hane Ave. was sent to Municipal Services Committee for further study. Mrs. Hurley claimed her car was damaged when she backed into a parking space on N Prospect St. north of W. Center St. and the front wheel dropped into a deep hole in the pavement

New Street Lights

A resolution authorizing the Ohio Edison Co. to install three 100-candle power street lights was approved unanimously. The lights are to be located on Blaine Ave. one just south of Fairview Ave, and two south of Duluth Ave.

Alley Vacated

Vacation of an alley north of Silver St. running west from Lee St. to the first north-south alley was unanimously approved by Council The vacation was granted on the strength of a petition presented to Council by residents in the vicinity of the alley Sept 14

Taxicab Fee Approved

An ordinance establishing a fee for taxicab drivers licenses was unanimously approved. This ordinance provides that each taxicab driver in the city must purchase a license on or before Nov 30 each year Cost of the license will be $1 each year and 50 cents will be charged for replacing any lost or destroyed licenses. Purpose of this ordinance is to permit an ordinance included in the recently adopted city code providing for licensing of cab drivers to become effective. It could not previously be enforced because no fee was established. Application for a license is to be made at the safety-service director's office and the licenses will be issued through the city auditor's office.

Water Main Extension

An ordinance authorizing the Marion Water Co to extend four water mains in various portions of the city was passed unanimously. The extensions are 156 feet on Brightwood Dr., south from existing main, 350 feet south of Indiana Ave. on S. Seffner Ave., 135 feet west from an existing main near the Edison Junior High School to supply new houses on Jonesboro Rd., and 110 feet east from Grant St on E. Fairground St. A petition asking that gas mains be extended along with the water mains on S. Seffner St. was also read to Council. This was set to the Municipal Service Committee for reference to the Ohio Fuel Gas Co.

Funds Transferred

An appropriation of $1,518 43 to the special assessments fund was unanimously adopted. Purpose of the appropriation was to make up the difference between original estimates of cost of improvements on the Marshall St. sewer, Johnson St. pavement, and Congress, Latourette and York Sts sewers projects. The additional funds to pay the city's increased share of the costs were appropriated from the General Fund.

Motion Approved

Council also approved a motion made by Smith to bring in an ordinance at its next meeting vacating an alley north of Bellefontaine Ave. running between Cherry and Windsor Sts. Residents of the area previously asked Council to vacate it so they might barricade each end Attorney Riley Hall, representing abutting property owners, told Council at its last meeting that some "cowboy" drivers were making a raceway of the alley and the property owners all desired it closed but at the same time planned to maintain it and use it as an alley.

All Councilmen with exception of Thomas H. Clark, at large, were present for last night's meeting.

'54 Plymouths To Go on Display Here

THE 1954 MODELS of Plymouth automobiles, including the Belvedere sport coupe shown here, will be on display in Marion Thursday Three dealers here will have the cars on their floors. They are Griffin Motors, 209 N. Main St, Larry Rainier Motor Sales and Service, 136 N. Prospect St, and Ripley Motor Co, 646 N. Main St.

A three and five-eighths inches increase in length, new body lines, new front end design, new interiors, advanced design seat cushions, and improved engines are featured in the 1954 Plymouths.

John P. Mansfield, president of Plymouth claims the new cars are "the most durable, best riding and best performing cars that Plymouth has ever built."

All new Plymouths will be available with either Hy-Drive automatic transmission, three speed standard transmission, or three-speed transmission with overdrive. More than half the Plymouths being built are equipped with either overdrive or Hy-Drive.

Link type power steering is available on all models of the Plymouth. It is said to be capable of absorbing virtually all the shock received from striking bumps or other obstacles.

Interiors have been designed with an emphasis on color harmony and modern decor. Seat and back cushions and door panels are upholstered in new types of fabric.

A new type seat cushion which contains a combination of jack and coil springs is also being used in the 1954 Plymouths.

In the engine, silicon chromium alloy intake valves are expected to give better engine performance. Exhaust valve inserts have been retand to maintain high compression performance. Other mechanical improvements include a higher capacity oil pump, improved clutch, and electric windshield wipers.

The new models are available in three price ranges, the highest of which is the Belvedere. In the medium price field is the Savoy, while the Plaza is the low priced series. A total of 11 different body types are available in the three groups.

Woman Kept Busy By 63 Armor Sets

CHICAGO (UP) — The 63 sets of shining armor at the George H Harding Museum would be dull exhibits if it weren't for a little white-haired widow

Mrs. Eller Jansen, 68, is starting her 21st year as housemother for the armor at the castle-like museum on the south side of Chicago Mrs Jansen keeps the suits of armor polished like mirrors and adjusts the helmets, swords and lances

George H. Harding one - time state senator and Republican National committeeman, hired Mrs. Jansen as housekeeper She was well known for her smorgasbords, but shining armor was different She spent her free time studying medieval history and when Harding died in 1939 she took over as caretaker.

Most of the items on display were picked up by Harding on his annual August vacations in Europe

"Visitors keep fingering the armor and that makes it rust," Mrs. Jansen said.

She rubs each piece of metal with oil and emery cloth, all the time wishing King Arthur and his knights had worn stainless steel.

CHURCH PLANS BUILDING

FULTON — Morrow Countians are church minded, according to Rev. Harold Klingel, pastor of the Church of the Nazarene, who reports plans of his congregation to erect a new church sanctuary on Route 61. The group has 50 members and a Sunday School attendance of nearly 70. New building will be of cement block and frame construction.

Political Eyes Turn to Voting In Wisconsin

Election To Fill Seat In Congress Possible Test, Observers Say

EAU CLAIRE, Wis. (AP)—Observers saw a possible test of the Eisenhower administration today as voters selected a successor to the late Republican Rep. Merlin Hull of Black River Falls.

Both Republicans and Democrats are watching the election in the predominately rural 11-county district as an indication of the popularity of the administration's farm policies.

State Sen. Arthur L. Padrutt, 36, Chippewa Falls Republican, and Lester Johnson, 52, the Democratic Jackson County district attorney from Black River Falls, both stressed their opinions of the administration during their energetic campaigns.

The electorate, however, was apathetic and seemed only dimly aware of the possible national significance of the election.

As a result, the election may draw no more than 30,000 persons—less than 25 per cent of the district's estimated 150,000 eligible voters.

Republicans were confident of victory, on the strength of their past record—the district never has elected a Democratic congressman—and their intensive campaign on behalf of Padrutt and his platform of all-out support of the administration.

Democrats were cautious, declaring only that they had a good chance to win in the agricultural district because of what they claim is a "farm revolt over declining prices." They also point to Johnson's adherence to the principles of Hull, the Republican representative whose death last spring created the 9th District vacancy.

Hull, who served 11 terms in Congress, won election early in his career as a LaFollette Progressive. Although he was a Republican in recent years, the Congressional Record sows he voted with the GOP only 24 per cent of the time in the last session of Congress.

KEY WEST, Fla. (AP)—A freak pocket of cold air settled over this southernmost city in the nation yesterday, dropping the temperature to 64 degrees, lowest recorded on Oct. 12 since the weather bureau was established in 1870.

Tuna and Asparagus Duchess Is Delicious

Most good cooks have a few quick tricks up their sleeves—dishes that can be concocted at a moment's notice after a busy afternoon or when unexpected guests drop in.

Combine choice canned tuna frozen or canned asparagus tips, and some table - ready meat such as boiled ham or bologna and you have the principal ingredients.

Make a cream sauce or use condensed cream soup diluted a little and combine with tuna. Wrap the asparagus tips in the meat; place on toast and pour hot creamed tuna over all. Food for a duchess, for sure.

Use 1 6½ or 7-oz. can of Tuna 4 thin slices boiled or baked ham or other table-ready meat, 12 asparagus tips, 4 slices toast, 1½ to 2 cups cream sauce or 1 can cream of mushroom soup combined with ½ cup milk, 2 tablespoons chopped pimiento.

Wrap 3 hot cooked, asparagus tips in each slice of ham. Fasten with toothpicks. Arrange on slices of toast. Combine hot cream sauce with pimiento and tuna and pour over asparagus and ham. Serve at once. Makes 4 servings.

3 Slide Down Fire Hose, Escape Huntington Jail

HUNTINGTON, W. Va. (AP) — Edwin Patterson, 23, of Bellaire, Ohio, and two other Cabell County Jail inmates placed a fire hose through a third floor window yesterday and slid to freedom.

Patterson is an escapee from the West Virginia Penitentiary Road Camp at Ripley. His companions, Charles and Woodrow Slayton of Huntington, were waiting trial for larceny.

WATER SUPPLY SHUT OFF

BETHEL, Ohio (AP)—Thirsty Bethel is getting water but its source of supply has been shut off again, at least temporarily. Max Howard, Brown County game warden, said the flow of water from Lake Grant into a mile and a half long pipe line which leads to Cloverlick Creek has been halted. He said it would be turned on again however, if Bethel, without a public water supply for more than two weeks, needs it

Top Producer Encourages Amateurs

Script-Writing Easy, TV Pioneer Says

By DOROTHY ROE
Associated Press Women's Editor

Any woman with a knowledge of basic English and a little imagination can write a television script, says one of the top kicks in the business.

Martin Horrell, who produced the radio show "Grand Central Station" for 16 years and now does the same with "Campbell's TV Sound Stage," invites scripts from amateurs and reads every one, looking for possibilities.

Every unused script is returned with a letter of criticism or encouragement. If he thinks the writer can develop, he tells her how. If not, he tells her other channels she might try. If the script is completely hopeless, he says so.

Every woman has at least one good love story in her life, says Horrell, and therefore she must have at least one good TV script. If she doesn't rely on personal experiences, she may have many more than one story for television.

For those who would like to write scrips for profit, he has this advice:

1. The first requirement is the ability to write plain Egnlish and a knowledge of spelling. Sign language won't do.

2. Learn what goes into a commercial story. The best way to do this is: (a) Get a good book on short story technique. (b) Go to a library and get an anthology of scripts. Study these until you are familiar with what makes a plot.

3. Don't expect to sell your first story. Put it away in a drawer and write nine more. Then take out the first one. If it still looks good, send it in. If not, keep trying until you are satisfied.

4. It's easier for the producer if you write your script in regular dialogue form, using only the left hand side of the page. This leaves room for a director's notations on the right. This format, however, is not what sells a story. If it's a good story, it can be written any way you want to do it. The studio staff will take care of putting it in the proper form.

The most important things Horrell says, is to keep the reader, looker or listener emotionally involved in the characters, and wondering what will happen to them next.

a word from Harold D. Carroll . . .

The occasion that prompts you to purchase a diamond is an important one . . . perhaps it's an engagement, an anniversary, important Christmas gift—or some other specially happy moment. Over the years, we've had the good fortune of helping many people select diamonds for these long to be remembered events. Because of this experience, many of our friends have asked us how to choose a diamond. So—we've published a booklet that outlines what the American Gem Society, Gemological Institute of Amercia believes are important factors that influence the value of these precious gems.

If you haven't received your copy of this helpful booklet—we sincerely hope you will stop by and ask for one. Of course, there's no obligation.

Sessions Held at Epworth

Wesleyan Service Guilds Entertain District Units

Three Wesleyan Service Guilds of Methodist Churches in Marion entertained the Lima District Wesleyan Service Guild here Saturday and Sunday for the annual fall Guild Weekend. Sessions were held at Epworth Church, with Prospect Street and Wesley Church guild members assisting the Epworth guild as hostesses. Presidents of the three groups are Miss Marjorie Williams, Mrs. John Werbel, and Mrs. Lester Hines. Mrs. Opal Campbell of Lima is district executive secretary.

Nearly 100 members and guests attended the Saturday night dinner and program for largest attendance at the conference. The delegates were housed overnight in the homes of Methodist families here. Guilds represented were from Bellefontaine, Kenton, Wapakoneta, Meeker, New Bloomington, Forest, and Lima, besides Marion.

OHIO CONFERENCE Wesleyan Service Guild and Woman's Society officers who took part included Miss Dorothy Sinkey of Columbus, WSG conference secretary, Mrs. Frank McCall of Mt. Victory, district WSCS president, and Mrs. Harley Snick of near Kenton, district WSCS treasurer and member of district WSG committee.

Special speaker for Sunday afternoon was Miss Alice Mae Dome of Marion, missionary returned from India and now teaching at Glenwood School here. On the faculty of the "University of Guild Know-How" which was instruction in phases of guild work, from Marion were Miss LaVera Lash who led discussion on business administration, and Miss Elaine Ballinger who with Miss Jean Peltier of Lima directed a "class" in publicity and membership. Other "teachers" were from Lima.

ON SATURDAY afternoon, opening devotions were by the New Bloomington Guild, in charge of Miss Joanne Drake. Mrs. Bernice Smith read Scripture and offered prayer, and music was by Mrs. Dorothy Moury, Mrs. Jean Johnson, Mrs. Jodene Adams, and Mrs. Doris Chambers.

Following the dinner Saturday night, Mrs. W. C. Taylor of Toledo presented a dramatic interpretation of the mother of Christ. At the dinner, guests included the Epworth Church pastor, Rev. W. C. Eyster, and Mrs. Eyster, Mrs. W. D. McGee, Woman's Society president, and Mrs. Nellie McCleary, Miss Lodemia Weaver, and Miss Evelyn McCormick of Marion. Guests who attended Sunday afternoon were Miss Retta Wilson of Union City Pa., who was a missionary to India 23 years, and Miss Genevieve Wheelock, librarian at Ohio Northern University at Ada, friends of Miss Dome.

THE GUILD GROUP attended morning worship service at Epworth Church Sunday as a body, and Miss Lash as a representative of guild read Scripture. Following lunch was served the delegates in the church Fellowship Hall by women of the congregation, as was the Saturday night meal.

Miss Dome spoke of her work in Burma and India before she was forced to return to this country because of ill health, and gave a challenge to consecrated living by the guild members and called for their interest and prayers in behalf of missions.

A pageant of symbolism on the Wesleyan Service Guild emblem was presented by the Prospect Street Guild from Marion. Taking part were Miss Della Owen, Miss Ruth Schott, Mrs. Robert Boyd, Miss Josephine Ruth, Mrs. Harlen Fairchild, Mrs. A. B. Fout, Mrs. Kenneth Connolly, Mrs. Joseph Mehaffey, Mrs. Walter Wolbert, Mrs. Dever Haas, Mrs. William Flach, Mrs. W. C. Walker, Mrs. Bernard Brooks, Mrs. Earl Mehaffey, Miss Mary Mehaffey, and Mrs. Kenneth Hecker, pianist.

FOR THE AFTERNOON special music, Miss Dolores Cosey sang, accompanied by Miss Carolyn Jones. They were introduced by Miss Mary Jo Stafford. Pianist for congregational singing was Miss Elizabeth Pace. General arrangements at Epworth Church were in charge of Miss Stafford. Miss Reta VanMeter, and Miss Marjorie Williams. Miss Florence Matthews of Epworth Guild and Miss Owen of Prospect Street were registrars, and Mrs. Werbel was treasurer. Sunday afternoon ushers were members from Bellefontaine. The invitation for next year's Guild Weekend was given by the Trinity Church group from Lima.

Old Familiar Road Not Familiar, Man Finds

MYTON, Utah (AP)—Sometimes a familiar road can fool you, Roy McKinnon of Price, Utah, learned yesterday.

Driving to Myton, McKinnon approached a bridge near here only to discover—too late—that the bridge was removed a year and a half ago.

"I always used to come into Myton this way," he told rescuers as they hauled him from the stream.

Supreme Court Agrees To Review Ban on Film

WASHINGTON (AP)—An Ohio Supreme Court ban on motion picture "M" has been accepted for review by the U. S. Supreme Court.

Superior Films appealed to the federal court from as Ohio ruling which described the picture as "filled with brutal crime." The Ohio Supreme Court had objected because "a schizophrenic killer is treated with sympathy and an underworld boss is depicted as vastly more efficient than the police."

Superior Films contends the Ohio censorship statute violates the constitutional guarantee of freedom of speech and press.

Harding Memorial Association Officers Re-elected by Board

The 31st annual meeting of the Harding Memorial Association was held Monday in the Presidential Suite at Hotel Harding with Dr. Carl W. Sawyer, president, presiding.

Following adjournment of the association's meeting the board of trustees met for the annual election of officers and to name three new members to the association to fill vacancies which occurred during the past year.

Reports Presented

A report by C. W. Smoot of the firm of Smoot & Roush, accountants, showed the association to be in good financial standing. M. C. O'Brien, chairman of the house committee, reported on improvements made at the home during the past year, and Ray R. King, chairman of the memorial committee reported on the condition of the Memorial and grounds. Improvements at the home included painting the house and minor repairs.

The Memorial is in good repair, Mr. King reported, and the grounds are in fine shape. Replacements of several flower boxes around the balcony and replacement of a few shrubs constitute needed repairs, the report showed.

A report of the Harding Pilgrimage staged by Boy Scouts and Girl Scouts Sunday was given by J. W. Llewellyn.

Harold Augenstein, who is in charge of the Home Museum and the Memorial reported on visitors at the two places. Approximately 5,000 persons have visited the home, and more than 15,000 persons registered at the Memorial since the last association meeting. A vote of appreciation was voted Mr. and Mrs. Augenstein for their work and interest at the home and Memorial.

The following officers were re-elected at the meeting of the board of trustees: Honorable Herbert Hoover, honorary president; Dr. Carl W. Sawyer, president; Ray R. King, first vice president; Warren Sawyer, second vice president; Michael O'Brien, third vice president; Paul Bachman, treasurer; Paul D. Michel, secretary and assistant treasurer. Committees will be named by Dr. Sawyer at a later date.

Elected to fill vacancies caused by the deaths of E. P. Mellon, one of the architects of the Memorial, J. Malcolm Strelitz and Walter Schaffner were; Paul Hunt, Dr. William Leffler and Richard Probst.

GRANGE CONDUCTS DANCE

Square dancing was enjoyed following a meeting of Tymochtee Grange recently at the Grange Hall. An installation service was conducted by an installing team from Painter Creek Grange of Hardin County.

Anniversary of Trucking Industry Noted in Stamp

A three cent stamp commemorating the 50th anniversary of the trucking industry will go on sale here Oct. 28. Postmaster Homer Cole announced today.

The stamp will be 84 by 1.44 inches in dimensions, and will be printed in sheets of 50.

Coroner 'Satisfied' Corpse Was Ohio Man Sought by FBI

DUNN CENTER, N. D. (AP)—A coroner has identified the decomposed body found in a jeep in a lonely thicket near here as that of an Akron, Ohio, man wanted by the FBI in connection with a killing.

M. A. Olson, Dunn County coroner, said he was "satisfied" the corpse was George William Krendich, 30. He said Krendich killed himself by asphyxiation.

The FBI sought Krendich on a charge of flight to escape prosecution for murder. He was accused in Akron of killing Mrs. Juanita Bailey two years ago. Police said Krendich had dated the 23-year-old divorcee whose body was found in a Kentucky creek.

JUST BACK FROM AFRICA
There are wild gorillas in MOGAMBO—in fact it's the first time these frightening creatures have ever been photographed. When you're not seeing the excitement of these unusual scenes in Africa you will be concerned with the triangle that centers around Clark Gable. The two angles to the triangle are the attractive Ava Gardner—we hope you agree with the adjective—and an interesting blonde named Grace Kelly. Ava's performance is witty and, need we say it, seductive.

Harding Preps for Homecoming Game

St. Mary on Road, To See Action in Columbus Tilt

Harding High School entertains Columbus Central Friday night at its annual homecoming and St. Mary travels to Columbus St Mary after a one-week layoff.

Both teams will be seeking to protect undefeated records. Harding last week raced past Fostoria, 40-6 after a first half struggle which ended with a one-point edge, 7-6. Coach Pete Howison's charges came through the game with only minor injuries.

St. Mary had an open date last week and has had time to recover from any injuries. Coach Ray Robbins' crew will be defending its uncrossed goal line With three wins under their belts the Irish have been unscored on.

Both Harding and St. Mary are tops is their respective leagues, the Buckeye and Mid-Ohio Conference

The Prexies have notched three of their four wins in league play and hold an edge over unbeaten Fremont, which has won two in the league. Findlay with a 1-1 record is third while Bowling Green holds down fourth with a 1-2 mark. Tiffin and Fostoria trail with a pair of losses and no wins.

St. Mary's 2-0 slate in the Mid-Ohio Conference ties it with Richwood for the lead. Neither are scheduled for league action this week Richwood plays host to Carey. The only league game will send Mt. Gilead to Cardington. Neither team has posted a win thus far. The Indians have dropped their only game while the Pirates have absorbed two losses inside the league.

Harding will be observing homecoming at the game. The halftime program will include a special program by the Harding band. Reigning as homecoming queen will be Anna Fairchild. She was elected by members of the senior class from a list of 22 candidates Members of her court will be Carolyn Jones, Rosemary Baxter, Sherry Caris and Phyllis Albert.

SHORT SPORTS

By John Short

Fremont Ross, Harding's opponent in its last home game on Nov. 6, reached its stride Friday night against Findlay's Trojans.

SHORT

The Findlay team went home a beaten crew after apparently pointing for the game all season. Findlay newsmen tabbed the game as the deciding tilt in the Buckeye League. They told their readers: "A victory for Findlay would just about settle the league championship, although the Trojans have Tiffin, Marion and Fostoria yet to combat." They apparently overlooked that undefeated record being carried by the Prexies.

The day of the game, Findlay writers reported a feeling of confidence pervaded the Trojan camp. That feeling was reported from a team which already had dropped two out of three games.

Al Coxon, Fremont sportswriter, had this to say about the Ross squad's 53-0 verdict: "As far as this reporter is concerned, last night's victory was the most impressive in five seasons of covering Ross games and was rivaled only by the 47-7 rout of Sandusky in 1949."

It was the worst defeat suffered by Findlay since Toledo Scott whipped the Trojans 48-0 in 1922 Ross rolled up 466 yards rushing while the defense held Findlay to 28 yards.

COVER BOY. In the October issue of a monthly magaine published by a leading automobile company, Ott Heller, coach of the Marion Barons is prominently mentioned. The article, written by Bob Stevens of the San Francisco Chronicle, deals with sports stars over 40. His picture accompanies the article.

Stevens calls Ott 'the steadiest man on ice' and says "For every winner that Johnny Longden has ridden, it seems that Ott Heller must have played one game of hockey." At 42, Heller was the top defender for the Cleveland Barons during their playoff action last season, Stevens says.

The San Francisco writer puts the Marion hockey coach and player in the same company with

Galiffa Ready For Pro Action With New York

NEW YORK (AP)—Arnold Galiffa, who won 11 sports letters at West Point and later became the grenade-throwing sensation of the Korean War, is anxious to get a taste of pro football—and chances are it'll come next Sunday.

The New York Giants make their home debut against the Chicago Cardinals at the Polo Grounds and Coach Steve Owen promises to unveil — for a few plays at least—his new quarterback from the fighting fronts who he says "will be another Otto Graham."

The 6-foot-2, 195-pound onetime steel hand from Donora, Pa., became a Giant over the weekend after his discharge from the service. He watched his teammates lose their third straight game in Washington Sunday, bowing to the Redskins 13-9.

"I'd never seen pro football from so close before," the dark-haired former All-America quarterback said. "Gee, they're big guys and they hit mighty hard College ball was never like this."

Galiffa may have been impressed by what he saw but he couldn't have been scared. Even pro football must look like child's play to the officer who spent six months on the Korean fronts when the fighting was fiercest back in 1951.

In February 1951 he won recognition for his grenade marksmanship while the Americans were pushing the Communists back north

A dispatch from the front lines said Galiffa became the marvel of his comrades by hurling grenades effectively for 75 yards, twice the distance the book says the explosive can be thrown accurately.

"Aw, shucks, we were moving forward and the Communists were holed up pretty thick," Galiffa explained. "I got loose some grenades and they happened to hit some Communist holes, that's all Nothing to it"

Could Lose Crowns

NBA Requests Title Bouts By Archie Moore, Bassett

WASHINGTON (AP) — Archie Moore, the aging St Louis veteran, was under instructions from the National Boxing Assn today to defend his light-heavyweight championship within the next few months or lose it by default.

In its full ratings issued last night, the NBA pointedly contended it was responsible for Moore's chance to win the championship in the first place It said he should feel obligated to risk his title in a bout with Harold Johnson of Philadelphia, logical contender in that division

Fred J Saddy, chairman of the NBA ratings board, noted that only persistent NBA nudging prompted Joey Maxim of Cleveland to take on Moore in a title bout, which Moore won handily

In its ratings, the NBA took out after one other boxer, Percy Bassett of Philadelphia, the interim featherweight champion, and told him to put his title on the line or face NBA action stripping him of it.

Bassett holds only an interim title because of featherweight champion Sandy Saddler is in the Army. But even so, Bassett is rated no higher than fourth in his own division behind Saddler, Willie Pep and Redtop Davis.

Rocky Marciano, the heavyweight champion, and Jimmy Carter, the lightweight title holder, were given strong votes of confidence by the ratings board, which could see no logical contender in either division

Dan Bucceroni of Philadelphia was given second place among the heavyweights in a four-man field rated as outstanding boxers Bucceroni, a Johnny-come-lately among the top-level fighters, risks that position in a go against Jim Slade of New York tomorrow night.

Ezzard Charles of Cincinnati, the former heavyweight champion, moved up into third place ahead of Roland LaStarza of New York, who was rated a logical contender before Marciano took care of him with an 11th round technical knockout last month

Given the fifth sot was Nino Valdez of Cuba.

20 Archers Shoot In Field Tourney

E J Leudenham had a score of 525 Sunday to take first place in the Marion Archers' first field competition

Fred Cooperrider had a score of 480 to finish second in the field of 20

The meet was held at Hickory Grove Lake, one and one-half miles southwest of Big Island. The competition consisted of 56 targets representing various game animals and set at varying distances

A three-way tie for seventh place was determined by the number of first round heart shots.

The Marion Archers will compete in the Dayton rover, Sunday, Oct 25 at Dayton's Madden Park. In addition, the group plans to hold two or three more meets at the Hickory Grove Lake area before the end of the season. The area has been donated to the organization for meet use by Robert Vance

The top ten archers in Sunday's competition were

Leudenham, 525; Cooperrider, 480; Charles Myers, 355, Don Davidson, 345, Bill Hartman, 340; Terry Strawser, 330, Charles Baker, 295 (12 heart shots); Floyd Angus, 295 (nine heart shots), Don Brown, 295 (eight heart shots); Jay Alton, 290

Massillon Still at Peak Of Ohio Prep School Poll

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Massillon's mighty Tigers still lead the pack in the weekly Associated Press sports editor poll to name Ohio's top high school grid teams

Chuck Mather's Stark Countains swept over unbeaten Steubenville 35-6 last week, and 18 of the 36 scribes picked the Tigers as the best in the Buckeye realm and gave them 297 of a possible 360 poll points.

Portsmouth, an easy 32-6 victor over Cincinnati Central, and Warren Harding, with a 21-20 "queak" over Mansfield's Tygers, held on to the second and third spots, the Trojans with 227 points and Warren with 194.

Hamilton, drubbed 35-13 by Dayton Chaminade for the Big Blue's first loss, skidded from fourth to seventh, with the victors vaulting all the way from 12th to sixth place. Mansfield clung to eighth, despite the loss to Warren, but Steubenville fell all the way from sixth to 14th.

Cincinnati Purcell, 35-20 victor over Cincinnati Western Hills moved from fifth to fourth although scored on for the first time, while Middletown jumped from seventh to fifth on the basis of its 14-0 win over Springfield's Wildcats.

Joining Dayton Chaminade as to a 6-6 tie by Dayton Stivers, and New Philadelphia, which took 10th after shutting out Martins Ferry 5-0

Baker Juniors Sink Taft Team

Eber Baker edged toward the Marion Junior High School Football League championship Monday with a 26-0 win over Robert A. Taft on the Edison field. It was its second league victory against o tie

Don Zeisler's crew crossed the Taft goal line in the first quarter when Dick Dennis, fullback, scored from six yards out to cap a 40-yard march Bill Smith, halfback, ran the ball over for the extra point.

Baker's seven point edge stood up until the third quarter when two scores boosted the margin to 20-0. Dennis passed to Dick Ulery, end, for a Baker touchdown—the play covering 45 yards—and Smith again carried the extra point over

Then it was Dennis passing again to Ulery for another third period score. The play this time covered 30 yards. Jack Noggle set up Baker's final tally in the fourth period with an interception at the Taft 40. Baker marched from there to the three, from where Smith went off tackle into the Taft end zone.

Baker meets George Whitehead's Edison team, 0-1-1, Thursday and then the junior high league comes to a close Monday with Marion Waits' Taft squad, 1-2, taking on Edison. Taft is at Kenton Thursday.

Climaxing the junior high football season here will be the Round Robin at the stadium Friday night Oct. 23. Baker is paired with Taft in the first game, Edison is the defending Round Robin champ. Vernon Junior High School, whose students now attend Eber Baker, won the former Mar-Del League football championship last year.

"PRESTONE" ANTI-FREEZE GIVES YOUR CAR
FULL 4-WAY PROTECTION

1 AGAINST freeze-ups in cold weather, boil-offs on warm days. One shot lasts all winter.
2 AGAINST rubber decay, radiator clogging, and pin-hole leaks developing from rust spots.
3 AGAINST corrosion of the cooling-system metals.
4 AGAINST foaming off and resulting loss of solution.

MECHANICALLY-MINDED CAR OWNERS...SERVICE MEN...ENGINEERS...

Save Trouble, Money... and Your Cars with these Simple Facts from the World's Largest Anti-freeze Laboratory

Most all-winter anti-freezes are made of glycols... high boiling-point, low freezing-point compounds. These properties prevent boil-off when the weather turns warm; prevent freeze-ups when the temperature drops. Thus, they do what alcohol can never do.

However, to make an ideal anti-freeze suitable for modern engines, glycols need 3 special additives:

1. A specially compounded oil inhibitor: (a) to form a microscopically-thin film over small rust spots which otherwise might break through and result in pin-hole leaks; (b) to lay any loose rust that may be in the cooling system, and keep it from circulating and thus plugging up the radiator; and (c) to plate out on rubber hose and seals, and thus to prevent the rotting of these parts by water penetration.

"PRESTONE" anti-freeze has this special oil inhibitor. It is not pretty in a test tube or a bottle, but it does a marvelous job of making rust stay put and of preventing pin-hole leaks. No anti-freeze without such an inhibitor can do these jobs.

2. A chemical inhibitor to prevent corrosion of the cooling-system metals. Seven metals are commonly used in automobile cooling systems—cast iron, steel, copper, aluminum, brass, lead and tin (solder).

3. An anti-foam to prevent the solution from foaming during fast driving, and thus spilling out through the over-flow pipe.

"PRESTONE" anti-freeze contains an anti-foam which is unsurpassed by that of any other anti-freeze.

The additives in "PRESTONE" anti-freeze are the result of thousands of tests by leading cooling-system engineers and research scientists in the laboratories of Union Carbide and Carbon Corporation at Tonawanda, N. Y., world-headquarters for anti-freeze facts and cooling-system data. These laboratories are the authority for our statement that no other anti-freeze gives the same complete protection as "PRESTONE" anti-freeze. There are no substitutes of equal value. There is nothing else like it.

Illegal Monopoly Claimed

Supreme Court To Study Charges Against Baseball

WASHINGTON (AP) — Organized baseball goes before the Supreme Court today in what it perhaps the most significant legal contest in the history of the national sport.

The court has been asked to decide whether baseball is an illegal monopoly in restraint of trade. If it decides that it is, the ruling could mean the end of big league baseball as it is now played.

But this is an extreme possibility. Even if the court were to rule against baseball, there are posible outs. Congress, for instance, could pass a special law, or there might evolve a sort of gentleman's agreement among baseball players.

Arguments on three appeals the high court agreed to hear was set down to begin late today, but it was possible that start of the three-hour argument would be deferred until tomorrow.

The question whether baseball violates the nation's antitrust laws has been before the Supreme Court before. In 1922 the court decided baseball wasn't a business, and that as a sport it was not subject to federal antitrust laws.

The three appeals now before the high court were filed by minor leaguers George Toolson and Walter Kowalski and a minor league clubowner, Jac Corbett.

All three maintain that the 1922 decision no longer applies. They contend the game has been greatly changed since then by such developments as intricate farm systems and radio and television coverage.

In addition, the appeals maintain, baseball amounts to something resembling slavery since the players are tied to their club owners under the controversial reserve clause, which gives the owners absolute control over baseball activities of the players.

Replying to the suits, organized baseball said in its briefs that the antitrust charges are without basis, that the specific questions raised in the three actions have nothing to do with interstate commerce.

PITT GRIDER OUT

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Rudy Grunder, sophomore guard from Massillon, Ohio, will not play for the University of Pittsburgh football team against Notre Dame Saturday. Grunder injured his knee during Pitt's 14-6 win over Nebraska Saturday.

The Brooklyn Dodgers hit 49 homeruns during August, 1953.

Cage Officials To Turn Backs On Some Fouls

ST. LOUIS (AP) — A decision by basketball officials to turn their backs on minor fouls yesterday was termed "the greatest shot in the arm intercollegiate basketball has received since the elimination of the center jump."

That was the way E. L. Romney, commissioner of the Mountain States Conference, felt about the officials action at their annual t o-day basketball clinic here.

The National Association of Collegiate Commissioners approved the bypassing of "fringe fouls and borderline violations in the back court" that have little effect on the "continuity of play" during the 1953-54 season.

Trabert, Mo Connolly Return With Net Titles

MEXICO CITY (AP) — Tony Trabert and Maureen (Little Mo) Connolly headed back to the United States today with the men's and women's titles in the Pan-American Tennis Tournament safely tucked away.

Trabert, the ace of the United States Davis Cup team, yesterday turned back Kurt Nielsen of Denmark 6-2, 6-4, 6-1, while Miss Connolly whipped Shirley Fry of Akron, O., 6-1, 61.

Irish Remain At Top; Bucks Plunge to 18th

NEW YORK (AP)—Notre Dame remained at the top of the collegiate football world today—the third straight week the Irish have ruled the roost.

The weekly Associated Press poll of the nation's sports writers and sportscasters gave the South Bend squad 1,226 points despite the fact that it was idle last Saturday.

Notre Dame collected 74 first places compared to 57 for all other teams combined. The points were tabulated by the usual method of 10 for first, nine for second and so on

Michigan State, which had to come from behind to lick Texas Christian, stayed in second place, but gathered only 14 first-place votes, as compared to 15 last week and 977 points compared to 1,022 in the second poll

The biggest change was disappearance of Ohio State from the top 10. The Buckeyes, shattered by underdog Illinois 41-20 last Saturday, plummeted to a tie for 18th with Mississippi Southern, the little school that beat Alabama at the start of the season. Illinois rose to No. 9 in the rankings.

Maryland, which many observers think is the top team in the South, rated third, only 16 points behind Michigan State The Terps were a distant fourth last week.

UCLA was fourth and Michigan fifth. The rest of the first 10 was rounded out, in order, by Georgia Tech, Duke, Baylor, Illinois and West Virginia.

The top 1 (first-place votes in parentheses):

1.	Notre Dame (74)	1226
2.	Michigan State (14)	977
3.	Maryland (21)	961
4.	UCLA (8)	755
5.	Michigan	537
6.	Georgia Tech	490
7	Duke (3)	485
8.	Baylor	397
9.	Illinois	284
10.	West Virginia (9)	181

Ohio's Borton Out of Action For Penn Tilt

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Ohio State and Pennsylvania—both badly battered from crushing gridiron defeats last weekend—flexed their bruised muscles yesterday in preparation for Saturday's clash in Philadelphia.

The Buckeyes, still nursing their wounds after a 41-20 upset by Illinois, began a fierce lineup juggling.

Penn, which suffered what Coach George Munger called its "worst" Saturday afternoon in 16 years" and came out on the short end of a 40-0 tussle with California, spent part of the day worrying about statistics.

Munger was particularly worried about Ohio State's 33-19 victory over California two weeks ago.

"Ohio State will be gunning for a comeback," he said.

And Ohio Coach Woody Hayes was doing just that. Two of his most reliable players appear out of the Penn contest. Quarterback John Borton has a broken nose and twisted ankle. Dick Hilinski, big left tackle, is suffering from bruised ribs

So the Buckeye boss started grooming fullback Dave Leggett for Borton's post; Jerry Harkrader of Middletown for the starting fullback assignment; and Don Swartz of Newark for Hilinski's job.

Another drastic move necessitated by the injuries is the switch of Tom Hague, OSU's most effective pass-catching end to second string quarterback.

George Bosseler, captain and star back of Pennsylvania who was sidelined in the California game, will see action against the Buckeyes
